Monkey Makes 48,900-Foot Rocket Flight

Capsule Recovered By Helicopter Off Coast of Virginia

Wallops Island, Va.—A little monkey named "Miss Sam" today survived a 48,900-foot rocket flight in rehearsal for human space travel.

The animal, a female, rode more than nine miles up in a replica of the chamber that will carry the first Mercury astronaut.

The capsule was separated from a "Little Joe" booster rocket by means of an escape mechanism designed to save the astronaut if something goes wrong at the launching.

With its 71-pound passenger in a special compartment, the capsule was parachuted to the surface of the sea 12 miles off this Virginia eastern shore island.

Partly Burned Out It landed at 8:05 p.m. Wednesday, Moscow time (1:05 p. m. CST) at a point 12.500 kilometers (7,760 miles) from the takeoff spot — not named in the announcement — and traveled at a speed of 26,000 kilometers (16,150 miles) an hour, the announcement said.

Castro Gives Ambassador 24 Hours to Leave Country

BY HAROLD K. MILKS

Havana —A— Fidel Castro today gave the Spanish ambassador 24 hours to get out of Cuba after a face-to-face mid-night row before a nationwide television audience that threatened to develop into a riot.

Cordona with rage, the bearded prime minister announced he was immediately recalling his own ambassador to Madrid, Jose Miro Cordona.

He said it was uncertain whether a complete diplomatic break with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government would follow.

Police and soldiers grabbed the Spanish ambassador, Juan Pablo de Lojendio, marquis of Velasco, and hustled him out of the TV studio after he had rushed in through a side door and accused the prime minister of slandering him in the broadcast. Castro had said the embassy was "in contact with war criminals and has ties with them." He accused the U. S. embassy of similar activity against his regime.

Castro Cheered The bearded prime minister towered over the clean-shaven, aristocratic diplomat as he refused the ambassador's demands to be heard and shouted angrily: "You are not in Spain now. You are in Cuba."

After the ambassador was whisked away to safety from the menacing crowd, Castro brought cheers from the studio audience with the assertion: "I will give the Spanish ambassador 24 hours to get out of Cuba."

President Osvaldo Dorticos, who was in the audience, jumped to the microphone and shouted: "There is no other course. This is an official decision of our government."

"We are going to recall our ambassador immediately, there is no other remedy," declared Castro. "We are not going to lose much."

He added sarcastically: "I hope they don't send the Spanish fleet to invade the island."

Massachusetts Candidate Accepts Challenge of Sen. Humphrey in Presidential Preference Vote

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Milwaukee — Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, today put his White House aspiration up to the frequently unpredictable voters of Wisconsin.

Sen. Kennedy announced at a crowded press conference here this morning that he will file as a candidate in the state presidential preference primary in April, bidding for the control of this state's 31 delegates to the party's national convention in Los Angeles July 11.

Kennedy thus accepted the challenge of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the only major candidate who has announced for the Wisconsin test before today, and one in which the stakes are immense for both.

Humphrey immediately welcomed Kennedy's entry into the Wisconsin primary and repeated his invitation to the Massachusetts senator "to meet me on the same platform in a series of informal debates to clarify our respective positions."

Kennedy said Humphrey should meet him in other state primaries and suggested that other candidates for the nomination should also file here.

Underdog Role He showed that he intends to play the underdog role here in the contest with Humphrey, suggesting that Humphrey is popular as a regional candidate because he is a resident of Minnesota.

But Kennedy said, "The historic presidential primary laws of this state — the first

Lava Halted at Village Border

Honolulu —A— A 10-foot deep stream of boiling and hissing lava from Kilauea volcano stopped abruptly last night at the outskirts of the tiny, deserted village of Kapoho—but a fiery finger headed for another hamlet on Hawaii island.

The inhabitants of the newly threatened village, Koae, northeast of Kapoho at the eastern tip of the island, were evacuated with Kapoho's 300 residents before and during the week-old eruption.

Plans to leave Cuba until he received official orders from the Cuban government.

Asked if he thought the developments meant a break in diplomatic relations between the two countries, he replied: "We must wait and see."

Protective Custody While Castro was speaking, a crowd of about 1,000 gathered outside the TV studio shouting "out with the Spanish ambassador."

The middle-aged marquis was taken away under the protective custody of Cuba's chief, Maj. Juan Almeida.

They slipped out a side door, and the ambassador was rushed to his home in suburban Mariano. A military guard was placed outside to keep newsmen and other visitors from entering, but the ambassador presumably was free to leave if he wanted to.

By telephone, the ambassador said he would make no

FBI Locates Dr. Spears In Phoenix

BY EDDIE LEE

Phoenix, Ariz.—A grey-haired, heavily insured former convict presumed dead in a mysterious airliner crash turned up alive in Phoenix yesterday.

In a jail cell today, Dr. Robert Vernon Spears of Dallas was the focus of investigation into bizarre circumstances surrounding the Nov. 16 crash of a commercial airliner into the Gulf of Mexico.

Federal authorities are investigating the possibility that the crash may have resulted from a bomb.

Unanswered Questions Spears was seized by two FBI agents as he hurriedly checked out of a Phoenix resort motel. He was charged with interstate transportation of a stolen car, but the FBI was more interested in his answers to these questions:

What was the 65-year-old naturopath up to when he took out $100,000 in travel insurance? Why was he listed as a passenger on the ill-fated flight?

Did he prevail upon William Allen Taylor of Tampa, Fla., a former prison acquaintance, to take his place on the plane? If so, why and how?

Was there any connection between Spears and Julian Andrew Frank, New York lawyer insured for $800,000 and named as a possible suicide bomber on another air-

Ike Hopes to Visit Hawaii Next June

Washington —A— President Eisenhower was quoted as saying today that he would like to visit the nation's newest state, Hawaii, on his way home from Russia and Japan next June.

Sen. Hiram Fong (R-Hawaii) had breakfast with Eisenhower at the White House and invited him to come to the fiftieth state.

"The president said he would like to spend a day in Hawaii on his way home," Fong told newsmen.

Flies From Japan From Japan Eisenhower will fly across the Pacific to the United States mainland. There has been speculation he may visit other countries in the Far East.

Fong said Eisenhower expressed a wish to get a look at Kilauea, the Hawaiian volcano which has been erupting.

Eisenhower last visited Hawaii, while it was still a territory, in 1952 when he was president-elect. He stopped there on his way back to the United States from Korea.

Fong issued his invitation after newsmen inquired whether such a bid had been extended. The senator, standing in the White House lobby while Eisenhower was talking to other Republicans from congress, said he had not mentioned a visit during breakfast.

"Maybe I ought to ask him now," Fong remarked. Then he walked over to Eisenhower, extended an invitation, and reported smiling to reporters that he had done so.

Fong went to the White House with seven other Republican members of congress — either new this year or last year.

37 of 46 Aboard Die In Jamaica Tragedy

Airliner's Landing Gear Buckles, Craft Explodes

Kingston, Jamaica —A—A Colombian airliner bound from New York to Colombia buckled its landing gear and exploded in setting down at the Montego bay airport early today, killing 37 of the 46 persons aboard.

Seventeen of the dead were Americans, among them a son and daughter-in-law of Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind). The latter were Thomas C. Capehart and his wife, Nancy, both 36, of Indianapolis, on a business trip to Bogota, Colombia.

The Dutch and two Australian passengers and five members of the 7-member Colombian crew lived through the crash and the resultant fire that ravaged the $2 million Superconstellation for two hours.

Marcus Bodoh, 47, Dies in Woods in Town of Caledonia

Waupaca — A logger, Marcus R. Bodoh, 47, route 2, Shiocton, was killed Wednesday by a falling tree in a freak accident.

The logger had cut a tree, waited while it fell, and then was struck when a second tree, a dead pine, dropped as he approached the fallen tree.

The accident occurred about 11:55 a.m. Wednesday on the Eugene Bruss farm, town of Caledonia. Bodoh and two other co-workers, Vilas Conrad and Frank Koeck, both of route 1, Fremont, were logging in the woods two miles east of Fremont.

Bodoh was struck in the head and died at the scene several minutes after the accident. Dr. John Haselow, Fremont, pronounced him dead. County Coroner Dr. Sam Salan said no inquest is planned.

He was born Oct. 10, 1912, in the town of Matteson, Waupaca county.

Soviets Say Rocket Falls Near Target

First of Series Launched In Central Pacific Tests

Moscow —A— The Russians announced today they fired a rocket 7,760 miles into the central Pacific which fell less than 1.24 miles from its calculated target.

The multi-stage ballistic missile "was the first in the series of planned launchings" for producing rockets to put heavy earth satellites into orbit and for space flights toward other planets of the solar system, Tass news agency said.

The Tass announcement said the point of fall of the rocket "confirmed the high exactitude of the system of rocket control."

Capehart Mrs. Capehart Avianca Colombian National airline, had made an unscheduled stop at Miami for repairs to a faltering engine. It was 10 hours overdue when it reached Montego bay, a popular Caribbean resort on Jamaica's north coast 550 miles south of Miami, about 2:35 a.m.

A rainstorm was over Jamaica but the moon was shining as the plane headed in for a landing. Witnesses said the left landing gear collapsed as the plane hit the runway and there was a terrific explosion, followed by two other blasts. The plane skidded into a sheet of swamp water, perhaps eight inches deep, north of the runway. Two of the four engines were ripped loose and landed 100 yards from the fuselage.

Removal of the bodies began in mid-morning.

Committee to Study Tranquilizer Drugs

Manufacturers Make $2,000,000 Yearly on Pills; Senate to Check if Prices Too High

Washington — (AP) — A senate subcommittee said today drug makers are taking in nearly $200 million a year from sales of tranquilizers. It set out to determine whether the prices are too high.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said the prices affect not only persons who buy and use the prescription drugs, but to some extent all taxpayers whose money helps support mental hospitals. Some of the more potent tranquilizers are widely used in treating the mentally ill.

Other types of tranquilizer pills are used by millions of Americans to relieve anxiety and tension, neurotic symptoms and emotional upsets. They have had sensational growth since they first became commercially available in the early 1950s.

No Estimate
Kefauver did not estimate the value of retail sales but said sales at the manufacturers' level are now estimated at between $175 million and $200 million a year.

Another Siege Of Questions Set in Trial

Los Angeles — (AP) — Jack Cody, a coarse, cocky man who claims he was hired to kill, faced another siege by the cross-examiner in the Finch murder trial today as it became evident the defense will contend:

1. That Cody was hired to entrap Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch romantically, not to murder her.
2. That Dr. R. Bernard Finch was not armed when he went to see his wife the night of her death, and that he killed her by accident or in self defense.

Finch, wealthy 42-year-old surgeon, is on trial with the mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23. They are accused of murder in the July 18 gunshot death of Mrs. Finch, 36. She was slain outside her suburban home. Cody, brought here to testify from the Minneapolis workhouse, insisted again Wednesday under cross-examination that the doctor and Miss Tregoff paid him $1,400 to do away with Mrs. Finch, and that he had no intention of going through with it. But he was more vague about his purported conversations with Miss Tregoff than he had been under examination by the prosecution.

He said at one point that Donald Williams, a friend of Miss Tregoff, brought up the subject of murder while arranging for him to talk to Carole in Las Vegas, Nev. At another point, he said it was Richard Keachie, so-called middleman in setting up the meeting, who first mentioned murder.

Say Oldsters Should Forget Taking It Easy

Urge Marriage, Activity Beyond Retirement Age

BY RENNIE TAYLOR

San Francisco — (AP) — Lonely oldsters should try the boy-meets-girl formula and look forward to the prospect of love and marriage long after the normal retirement age, say two doctors who deal with the problems of aging.

The senior citizen should live it up, moderately at least, and forget about taking it easy, they added.

The medical profession might justifiably speed up the application of some of its new drugs and techniques to benefit oldsters now, rather than waiting for some degree of perfection which might take years or generations, one of them said.

These ideas were put before a regional conference on aging and in a news conference Wednesday by Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp of New York City and Dr. Alfred Auerbach of San Francisco. The conference was sponsored by the American Medical Association and the Medical Association of Washington, Oregon and California.

Committee on Aging
Dr. Klumpp, a member of the AMA committee on aging, said that if medical science has drugs and methods which are reasonably sure to help the aged but haven't been proved 100 per cent, they should be used, even if occasional mistakes are made.

He advised oldsters to "use all of your functions as long as you can; get as much mileage out of your body as possible; forget talk about slowing down, because inactivity means atrophy, or wasting away, of both mind and body."

Dr. Klumpp told of a Dane who did very well by himself for more than 140 years.

This fellow, he said, was Christian Jacobsen Dragenberg, who was born in 1626 and died in 1772. At the age of 70 he was taken prisoner by Algerian pirates. He served as a slave for 15 years, then escaped, and participated in a war against Sweden.

At the age of 111 the Dane married a woman of 60 and outlived her. At 130 he proposed to several women but was rejected. He lived another 16 years, during which his conduct was "far from blameless," but he simmered down at the age of 141 and died at 146.

"If one man can live a life as full as this," said Dr.

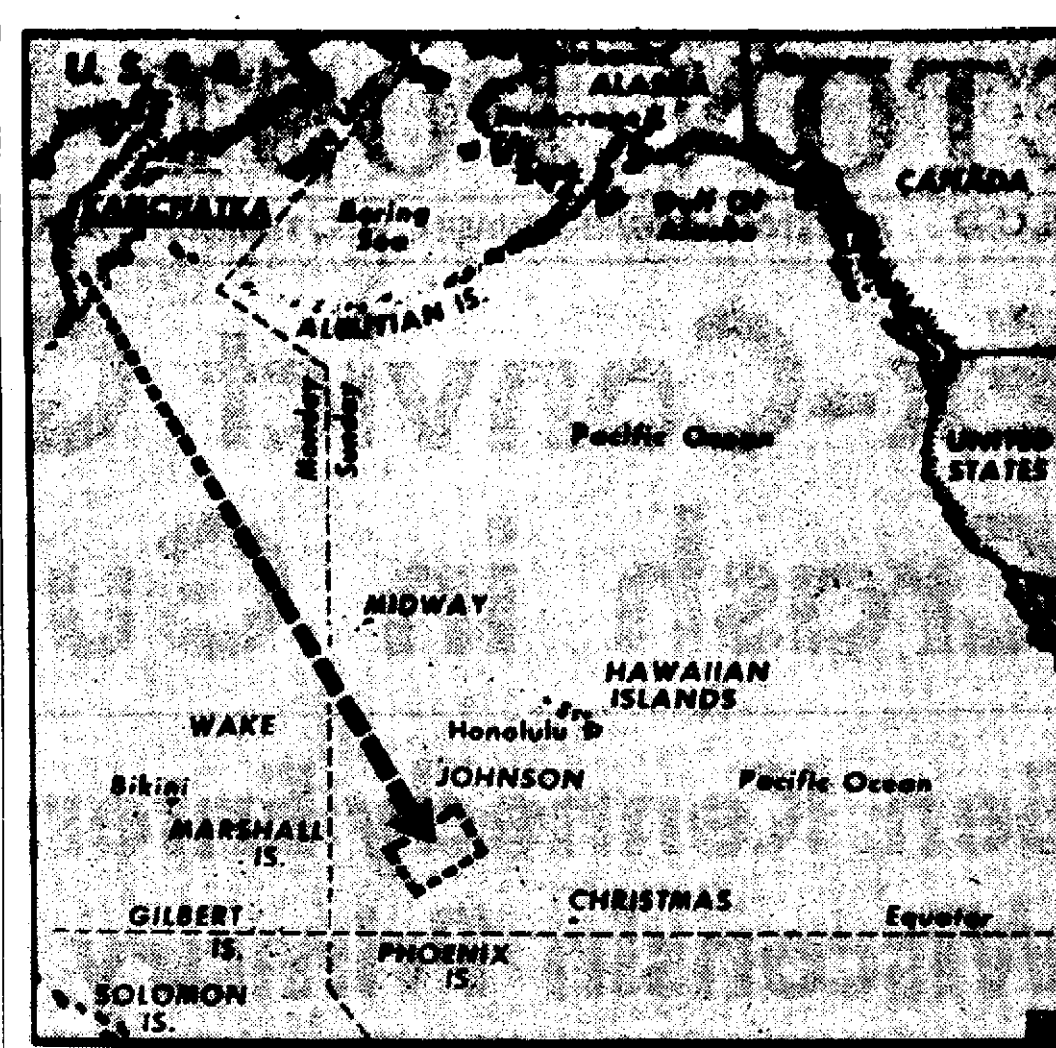

Remove Presbyterian Minister For Denying Christ's Divinity

Haverstraw, N. Y. — (AP) — A Presbyterian minister has been removed from the church for denying the deity of Jesus Christ and the divine authority of the Bible.

The Rev. Harold H. Quigley, 47, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, said he was removed Tuesday by the Hudson Valley presbytery of the United Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.

A presbyterian spokesman confirmed the dismissal Wednesday. The spokesman said the church's local ruling body, comprised of lay and church leaders, voted 46-7 for Quigley's removal, effective immediately.

Complaint Against Chancellor Adenauer

Policeman Says German Advocated Thrashing for Anti-Semitic Hoodlums

Hamburg, Germany — (AP) — A Hamburg policeman swore out a complaint today against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer because he advocated on-the-spot thrashing for anti-Semitic hoodlums.

The officer, Horst Schmidt, charged that Adenauer had called publicly for commission of an offense, violating a section of the West German criminal code. The Hamburg prosecutor's office said it would turn the case over to the prosecutor in Bonn, the federal capital.

Before authorities can proceed with the case, parliament must lift Adenauer's immunity as one of its members.

Based on Speech
Schmidt based his complaint on Adenauer's radio and television speech last Saturday. The chancellor declared:

"To my fellow German citizens as a whole I say: If you catch a hoodlum anywhere, carry out punishment on the spot and beat him up."

Klumpp, "there is no reason why science cannot make it possible eventually for many of us to marry at 111, propose and be accepted at 130 and live to 146."

"That is the punishment he deserves."

The opposition socialists and several West German newspapers accused Adenauer of advocating "lynch justice," but the chancellor stuck to his suggestion, saying, "one should not be too pedantic with the law."

An Official Act

The Hamburg police department said Schmidt, 31, informed the police chief before he took action against Adenauer. Schmidt told reporters the complaint involved no personal motives, "it was purely an official action."

He added that regulations prescribe that a policeman must take action if he feels that a "punishable offense might have been committed."

The criminal code section under which he filed the complaint provides that anyone inciting another to commit a punishable offense may be jailed for not more than one year or sentenced to pay an unspecified fine.

The defendant may be found guilty even if the act which he incited is not carried out.

Beating a person is considered battery, punishable by imprisonment of not more than three years or an unspecified fine.

Man Saves Self After Wreck of Tug in River

Ilwaco, Wash. — (AP) — Two men huddled on a shelterless island at the mouth of the Columbia river for two days while a storm raged about them. One made it to safety Wednesday, but his companion died of exposure.

Henry Jarvi of Rosburg, Wash., and Joe Rieneke of Megler, Wash., swam to Sand Island when their tugboat, the Sandra Lee, sank Monday.

They made a raft of driftwood. Then Rieneke became very ill. Jarvi launched the raft. Pushing it before him, he swam to the Washington shore. A passerby drove him to the coast guard station at Cape Disappointment.

The coast guard sent a boat to the island. Rieneke died as the boat rushed him towards a hospital. Jarvi was hospitalized at Long Beach, Wash.

Donation for Campaigns Hits Senate Fight

$10,000 Limit to Be Set on Single Political Contribution

Washington — (AP) — A proposal to impose a $10,000 limit on individual campaign contributions stirred a fresh round of senate controversy today over a bill to regulate spending in federal elections.

The measure already has been strengthened in two major respects by amendments covering primary elections and state and local political committees which support candidates for federal office.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), who fought both amendments, told a reporter he would not be surprised if the bill now is pigeonholed in the house.

Little Chance
Dirksen, the senate GOP leader, said publicly what some other senators have been saying privately — even those who have voted for putting more controls in the legislation.

From the start of senate debate last week, the bill never has been rated much chance of house passage. No action has been taken there looking toward a comparable measure.

The bill, revising the 1925 corrupt practices act, would require more detailed reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures in federal elections and raise legal spending ceilings to reflect cost increases.

The amendment to put an overall limit of $10,000 a year on any individual's contributions to or expenditures for federal election campaigns was offered by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., (D-Mo.).

Limit Contributions
Under present law, an individual is limited to contributing $5,000 to any one candidate or campaign committee but there is no limit on the number of candidates or committees to which he may contribute.

Hennings said a senate investigation of campaign spending showed that in the 1956 election members of 12 prominent families contributed $1,153,000 and one family alone gave $248,423.

He said these contributions were within the letter of the law as it now exists, but he said "it must be admitted that the possibility of influencing candidates or the

Eisenhower Apparent Keynote Speaker for National Convention

Ike's Appearance Calculated to Give Lift to GOP Session in July

Washington — (AP) — President Eisenhower apparently will sound the keynote of the Republican national convention opening July 25 in Chicago.

Although Eisenhower is not likely to take over the duties of temporary chairman, who usually delivers the keynote speech, Republicans generally expect the president to set the tone for their campaign in a major address.

Rep. Miller Elected Committee Chairman

Washington — (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller of New York today was elected chairman of the Republican Congressional committee. His principal rival, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, withdrew to prevent a party split.

Miller succeeds the late Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania as head of the committee whose function is to help elect Republican candidates for the house.

Thurston B. Morton said it has been left up to Eisenhower to decide which day he wishes to speak.

Eisenhower's appearance would be calculated to give a lift to a convention that may lack crowd and television appeal because of the absence of any contest for the party's top nomination. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is almost certain to be named to head the ticket.

Some Republicans have been worried about the contrast between their potentially cut-and-dried affair in Chicago and the dramatic battles Democrats may put on in Los Angeles two weeks earlier.

Welcome Stimulant
Nixon himself is not unmindful of this. He will welcome Eisenhower's appearance not only as a temporary stimulant to the Republicans but because there is every indication the president will strongly endorse Nixon as a candidate.

Morton said the convention arrangements committee he has appointed will wait until late in April before canvassing the field of potential convention officers. The party national committee will make the final choice early in May.

Although Morton did not comment, there were reports in other quarters that the results of an election is clear in the light of such heavy contributions.

The amendment provides that violators of the proposed limitation would be subject to a $5,000 fine or five years' imprisonment, or both.

Frogmen Rescue Marooned Collie
Grafton, Mass. — (AP) — Frogmen, police and firefighters early today rescued a Collie dog marooned at least two days on a frozen bit of island deep in a swamp.

Police and firefighters had tried since last Tuesday to rescue the dog but it took the frogmen to negotiate the nearly 400 yards of ice crust, slushy water and mud.

Quietly, the dog placed his paw on the knee of the first frogman to reach him and then permitted the men to carry him to dry land.

The animal's coat was matted with ice and he appeared half-starved.

Rescuers took him to the local fire station to thaw out and to enjoy a hearty meal. The dog, about 2 years old and weighing some 55 pounds, had no collar or identification tag.

Works Board Majority Rules Against Shoppers' Mall

Defer Formal Vote Until After Consultant's Talk This Evening

Conversion of part of College avenue into a shoppers' mall is not feasible, a majority of the board of public works said Tuesday.

A formal vote of the 8-member board was not taken out of deference to Ralph J. Stephenson, H. C. Prange company new store consultant.

Stephenson, it was explained, is the featured speaker tonight for the annual dinner put on at Butte des Morts Golf club by chamber of commerce leaders for city officials.

Advised Mail
Stephenson is expected to talk about the possibilities of a shoppers' mall in Appleton as well as interrelated parking and traffic problems of the city. He was enthusiastic about mall potential of College avenue some four years ago in a paper he prepared for the Prange company.

Members of a joint board of public works and chamber of commerce delegation that toured Toledo, Ohio, and Kalamazoo, Mich., shoppers' malls in October called for a study of mall possibilities in Appleton, in giving a report of their impressions of the two operating malls to the city council.

The report was forwarded by the mayor to the council's public safety committee for comment. The committee sent it back to the works board, saying only its chairman had made the trip and that the works board more properly should comment.

Receive, File
A special meeting of the council was ordered scheduled to discuss the report, but a date had not been set when City Clerk Broehm inquired Tuesday whether the works board still wanted it.

"Why not tell the people the truth about it?" inquired Ald. Thomas K. Schneider, chairman of the public safety committee.

"What is it? What'll you say?" asked the mayor.

"I think we ought to receive and file the report," said Ald. Ervin J. Bogan, finance committee chairman.

"We certainly have to settle the traffic problem first," commented Ald. Roy Pointer, street and sanitation committee chairman.

Schneider said the city ought to go ahead with reconstruction of College avenue. "It would be impossible to create a large enough perimeter street south of the avenue."

Lively Street
Schneider also said that any parking areas created south of College avenue also would have to be south of Lawrence street and he doubts the city would want to build a carrier there if it could and then force people to walk across it from the parking lots.

Ald. Harold Hannemann, chairman of the welfare and ordinance committee, said he believes College avenue is a lively business street, and too wide to permit the change.

Mayor Mitchell acknowledged that many, many things would have to be done before a mall could be considered. One of these, he said, is that the concrete slab for a College avenue mall would have to be a lot thicker than in Kalamazoo where a 3-inch sidewalk-type slab is expected to hold fire trucks.

Schneider pointed out College avenue is the city's widest street while the mall streets in Kalamazoo and Toledo are on the narrower streets in those cities.

Angle Parking Hit
City Atty. Jury said he regards lack of parking as the prime problem and that's why the public safety committee was given the report in the first place. He said the committee now should be asked again to seriously study the parking problem. "We can always resurvey the situation again before reconstruction."

AHS Graduate Designs Magazine
A former art student at Appleton High school was guest art director for the November-December, 1959, issue of the trade magazine "Print."

William Schommer, art director at Monogram Art studio in New York, designed the winter issue of "Print" and said he found it a "real challenge."

Schommer, who attended AHS during World War II, left school to join the navy in 1943. Later he was granted an AHS war diploma.

He went to New York in 1950.

Two Cars Damaged, Mail Box, Pole Broken in Accident

A car which went out of control on Highway 96 in the town of Grand Chute Tuesday afternoon cracked into a telephone pole, a mail box and another vehicle coming from the other direction.

County police said a car driven by Donald Owen, 38, 224 E. Pacific street, was going west on 96 when it skidded across the highway, striking the pole, the box and the car driven by Theodore Huitling, 36, 430 W. Main street, Little Chute.

Neither driver was injured.

Three New Directors of the Northside Advancement association congratulate Lloyd Berken, right, American Legion state commander and former association director, when he was honored at the advancement association's annual meeting Wednesday night. New directors are, from left, Charles Riley, Walter Winters and Edgar Quevillon. The new directors will serve through 1962.

Street Extension Problem Shipped to Area Planners

Councilmen Argue Whether It Is Regional or Purely Local Matter

Aldermen shipped the Washington street-Franklin street extension problem to the regional planning commission for advice by a 12-6 vote Wednesday night.

Sometimes caustic debate indicated the move is designed to get the city's money's worth from the regional commission. Opponents indicated they didn't want local matters decided by outsiders.

Opposing the idea were Aldermen Grob, Loos, Pointer, Mrs. Stillings and Stoebauer. Aldermen Priebe and Stumpf were excused absentees.

Stoebauer, long an advocate of extending Franklin street across the Packard street dump, questioned the referral initially.

"Isn't the city engineering department better qualified to decide between the two?" he asked.

His question was rhetorical for he added "I don't see why we should wait for the regional planners to come in here and tell us what to do."

Out of Order

Stoebauer moved to strike out the referral from the city planning commission report and order the engineering department to proceed with Franklin street extension plans.

Mayor Mitchell ruled the motion out of order because it overstepped bounds of the

Outline Goals Of Northside Association

Petition for New Post Office In Circulation

The long range policy and goals of the Northside Advancement association were outlined by Fred C. Matthews, association president, at the group's annual meeting Wednesday night at the Elks club.

Matthews discussed the petition now being circulated by the association which asks for a post office on the north side.

Block captains in the area were urged to turn in the petitions as soon as possible.

Matthews said the association's board of directors already has met with Appleton Postmaster Francis Sumnicht to discuss the project.

New Directors

When the petition is completed, Rep. John W. Byrnes will be notified and copies will be sent to him upon request.

Three new directors were elected. They are Charles Riley, Edgar Quevillon and Walter Winters. They will serve on the board through 1962.

Lloyd Berken, state American Legion commander, was honored. A gift was presented to him for service to the Legion and the Northside Advancement association.

Among the goals outlined by Matthews were improved schooling, off-street parking for businessmen and employees, more lighting of north side streets, more fire protection, new business and industry and a full-scale bank.

ton makes the first request (for local planning assistance) we will be responsible for opening the floodgates for dozens and dozens of requests," Ald. Schneider said.

Because he voted against the regional planning contract, Schneider said "I want to bend over backwards not to hamstring Schellie and Associates from bringing in a good regional plan."

Schneider supported his contention that dozens of requests would follow by citing published reports of items Neenah councilmen would like Schellie to solve.

Aldermen Bogan and Hannemann said they could see no reason why the problem should not be referred to the regional commission. "We might get some valuable advice," said Hannemann.

Ald. Loos wondered how long the council would have to wait for the commission's decision, how long the project would be tied up. He said he was against the delay.

I-Room Red Star Addition Okayed

$26,000 Structure Resembles St. Pius; Drawings Approved

The $26,000, 1-room addition to Red Star school will closely resemble the design of the St. Pius X, Appleton, building, the school's building committee and ruling board decided Wednesday.

Architect George Narovec submitted drawings for the board's inspection, and it approved them generally, but asked for a few minor revisions. The board also authorized:

1. Sketches of an overall 4-room expansion plan, enlarging the addition as it might be eventually when the school district is annexed to a city, either Appleton or Menasha. The present red brick, 40-year-old building would be razed.

2. Working drawings for the 1-room addition already authorized by the district.

3. Several schemes for heating the present building and the addition. Board members and Narovec thought a boiler system would be best.

4. A survey of the property. The addition should be completed by Sept. 1, Narovec indicated, giving the school a capacity of 80 students. The new room would measure 32 by 34 feet, contain a sink, storage cabinets and a closet. The entire east wall would be windows, and it would be connected to the present structure by an enclosed corridor running north and south between the buildings.

The plans also include adding a teachers' lavatory and enlarging the girls' lavatory, both in the old building. The estimate does not include furniture or landscaping.

Second Room?

Narovec said it would cost another $7,000 to add a second, unfinished room to the proposed addition. Several members of the building committee seemed to favor its construction. Said Robert Marsh, "What can we lose? It would be a much more substantial structure with two new rooms, rather than one."

No action was taken on adding the unfinished room.

Acceptance of the drawings produced what seemed to be a calm ending to a controversy that has been raging bitterly for nearly a year in the Calumet county district. But post-meeting discussions showed there still is some ill feeling.

Began In April

Last April, the first of a long series of heated meetings was held to determine what should be done about the school problem. The present building can contain a maximum of 30 to 35 pupils, but there were 56 in the district

The extras were transported to Appleton.

Generally, farmers favored consolidating with Appleton for school purposes only, while suburbanites wanted to build a neighborhood school on a new 5-acre site.

At first, it appeared the suburban element had won, since the district approved, in two separate votes, a resolution to build a 2 to 4-room building on a new site. This action was upheld by the Calumet and Outagamie county school committees.

Bonds Defeated

But when it came time to bond the district for the construction costs, the bond issue was defeated.

A compromise was effected, involving a 1-room addition to the present school and no acquisition of extra property, as recommended by several consultants.

Informal discussion after the meeting revealed the compromise by no means settled the arguments between factions, both sides believing they have been mistreated by the other.

Strength Important In New President

Must Set Aside Personal Trivia in Judging Candidates, White Says

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE
Washington — There is mounting evidence that both political parties and the voters will owe a duty to their country to put on long pants in this presidential election year.

The Soviet Union's power to turn cold war negotiations to its favor is growing. Whether or not its actual strength is rising, its propaganda strength certainly is. The west's chance to win in a summit meeting is declining.

There will be no chance at all unless the west can be drawn together in adult unity, and unless the core of the alliance, the United States, can get through the campaign at home without tearing itself apart. We must not weaken the ability of the incoming administration to act decisively and with heavy public support in a dangerous world.

Need Grown-Up View
All these facts are known to the most responsible men in both parties. Much more than this awareness is needed if the country is going to wear its long pants, taking a grown-up view of the world of 1960.

No one supposes the campaign can be run off without some emotionalism. It does not seem too much to hope for less automatic and trivial partisanship; less personal like and dislike as governing factors in voting; fewer voting decisions based on petty personal prejudice. The grave Russian challenge will not be subject to wasting weakness of this kind.

Surely, the national problem can thus be fairly stated: There is special necessity not to choose a president on the basis of 2-bit politics or mere pressure-group interests, however decent these interests may be in themselves, or on the basis of simple personal prejudice.

Need Good Leader
The country manifestly will need a powerful and able leader. It is not really important whether all of us like him, or how he combs his hair.

This correspondent does not presume to say who should be elected. He does contend that the determining consideration should not be party affiliation or shopworn labels like liberal or conservative. Whether we are Republican or Democratic or liberal or conservative will be meaningless if the Russians are able to cast us into the position of a second-class power.

The decision should be solely on the question of who among the aspirants could best represent the United States and keep it strong in a tough and infinitely perilous world growing ever more perilous. The first necessary step is to get rid of a series of prejudices against almost every leading presidential possibility so that they may be judged only on adult and relevant standards.

Prejudices
Vice President Nixon is constantly under attack on such vague grounds as "I don't like him," "I don't like his face."

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is constantly under attack because he happens to be a Catholic.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson is ditto because he happens to be from Texas.

Adlai E. Stevenson is ditto because he has twice been defeated for the presidency.

Accusations such as these are totally irrelevant to today's realities. Whatever is right and whatever is wrong with each of these candidates is in no way affected by such nonsense.

To Your Good Health

Anticoagulant Drugs Prove Effective in Coronary Cases

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.
term "heart attack" is a scary one, but people should learn to realize the truth: While no heart attack ever is minor, with modern treatment we have thousands upon thousands of people who have survived them and now are healthy, happy and vigorous.

The precautions which must be taken depend upon the particular case, of course. Where, as in your case, anticoagulants are advised, it's wise to take them.

In proper dosage, these drugs not only are helpful in preventing formation of clots, but they are safe to take. If taken in excessive amounts, of course, the drugs would not only prevent clots but also would prevent the body from stopping any case of bleeding when it started. The nose might bleed, or ulcers, or minor cuts, or what-not.

Blood Tests
But—and here's the crux of the matter—blood tests from time to time will reveal just what the situation is. The test in this case is what is known as a determination of prothrombin time, which means a determination of how long the blood takes to clot.

If these tests are taken at reasonable intervals, you can be assured that the drug remains satisfactory. Or, of course, the size of the daily dose can be adjusted. The result is that these drugs can safely be taken over long periods of time. The good they do is enormous.

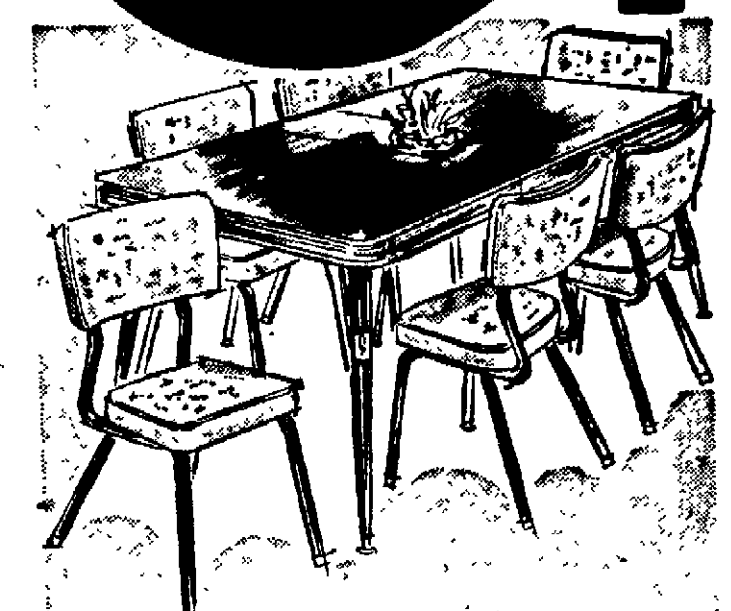

Prevents Clots
The purpose of an anticoagulant, of course, is to prevent the formation of blood clots by retarding the ability of the blood to coagulate.

After one has had a coronary, or heart attack, it is of the utmost importance to prevent blood clots, as the same factor causing one may bring about a second attack.

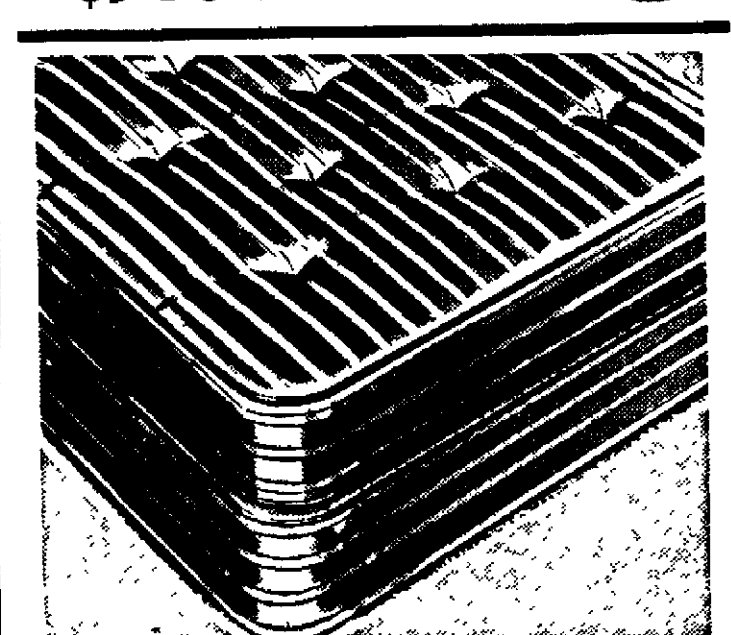

In passing, it is worth noting that you had your heart attack six years ago, and the mild one two years ago. The

1964 World's Fair: Look to the Future

BY SYLVIA PORTER

All during this day, Jan. 21, special couriers of the state department will be calling at the Washington embassies of 82 nations with whom we have diplomatic relations to deliver a personal message from our president.

As each ambassador opens his envelope, he'll read an invitation to his nation to participate in "The New York World's Fair-1964," the first world's fair in our country in a quarter century and only the second world's fair anywhere in this entire era. Conspicuously not receiving invitations are red China and East Germany.

Now the fair is off to an official start and acceptance will begin to pour in. Informally, we already have received one rather important acceptance; when Soviet Premier Khrushchev was in New York this last fall, he told Mayor Wagner Russia intends to come.

Flushing Meadows
Even at this stage, preparations are well advanced. The fair will be located at Flushing Meadows, site of the original 1939 fair. Headquarters are at New York City's Empire State building.

"For it takes years to organize a global venture of government - private enterprises of this magnitude," explained Thomas J. Deegan, Jr., the dynamic public relations adviser who spearheaded the fair drive and who attained national fame in 1954 when he helped his close associate, the late Robert R. Young, win control of the New York Central railroad.

"What will some of the exhibits be like?" I asked. "Who knows? Who can imagine what our industries will invent in the next few years, who progress our government will make in space exploration, peaceful uses of nuclear energy," Deegan revealed that when RCA announced a few months ago it was joining the fair, he called on RCA chairman David Sarnoff to ask the same question. "He laughed, too, and said, 'I only know that what we're doing in electronics today will be obsolete by then and most of what we'll be exhibiting isn't."

Birth of Twins Ordeal for Father

Columbus, Ga.—Wallace E. Evans, 23, paced the hospital corridor nervously as all prospective first-time fathers are supposed to do.

A smiling doctor appeared and broke the news: "You are the father of twin boys."

That just started the breaking. The 8-foot, 200-pound father hit the floor in a dead faint. He broke his nose, cut his lip, sprained his back and knocked out a tooth. In a semi-conscious condition he was wheeled away for first aid, then was hospitalized 24 hours for shock.

"I was worried to death about him when he didn't come to my room," said Mrs. Evans. "Then I saw what happened to him and I couldn't help but laugh."

The twins and the mother were in fine condition today. The father, his wife said, is "feeling some better." He'd never fainted before.

even on our drawing boards."

"Let's do some educated crystal-gazing then," I suggested, and Deegan replied.

"Do you remember the parachute jump at the 1939 World's fair?" I certainly do; I was terrified when I tried it.

"At this fair, we might send you up in a rocket," he said matter-of-factly. "That's quite conceivable."

"Do you remember the little 'golf carts' in which we went from pavilion to pavilion?" I vividly do; they were exciting.

"This time you may ride around in cars that don't touch the ground at all. Our auto companies are far advanced in experimentation with a car that floats on air. This could be part of the 1964 show."

Think Machines
He paused. "You've seen those 'think machines' of IBM and other companies?" I have; they stump me.

"Maybe at the 1964 World's fair we'll have 'think machines' which will communicate with other 'think machines' all over the globe."

And when I broke in, "You mean I could ask a machine in New York to ask a machine in the Kremlin about the weather in Russia and get back an instantaneous reply?" he nodded. "Why not?"

So we went on, musing over the possibilities in automation, jet travel, space, synthetics. It was fun but with serious undertones. For our very uncertainty emphasizes that so rapidly is the world now moving in exploration and invention that many a projection which seems wildly improbable in 1960 may be a plebeian by 1964.

Our educated crystal-gazing pounds home what a challenge this fair will be to us and all the nations who join with us in showing what the leaders of the second half of the 20th century are doing to make a peaceful world more prosperous and rewarding to the millions.

Byrnes for Vice President

The endorsement of Congressman John Byrnes by Jackson county Republicans for the vice presidential nomination should be viewed by national party leaders as something more than a favorite son trial balloon.

If Richard Nixon becomes the presidential candidate, Mr. Byrnes could well be an able running mate from the practical political point of view. He comes from an important section of the country as far as uncommitted votes are concerned. He is a Catholic, an angle which seems to be of some importance in this campaign. He is young, politically speaking, a good friend of the present vice president and a strong advocate of Mr. Nixon's political philosophy.

But these considerations, while of probable weight with political leaders, are secondary to Mr. Byrnes' real qualifications — his political courage and integrity, his know-how, legislative experience and ability to command respect even of those who do not agree with him. As a long-time member of the House Ways and Means committee, Mr. Byrnes has thorough knowledge of the tax and financial problems which are of ever increasing importance today. He comes from an agricultural state and has taken firm, if sometimes unpopular, stands on the constant farm problems. He recently was named as one of the twelve leading Republicans in the House of Representatives.

Those who argue that Mr. Byrnes is not nationally known forget that such an acquaintance can develop rapidly as it has with Mr. Nixon. Today the position of vice president is in reality, and not merely name, one of the most important in the nation's government whether or not the president stays in good health. If we are to mature politically as a nation the vice presidential candidate no longer can be chosen merely because he represents a different part of the country or segment of the population than does the primary candidate. We most desperately need citizens who are able to perform with high ability and integrity the responsibilities of their elective offices.

In our opinion, Congressman John Byrnes has those qualifications.

Scientists Seek Curb on Radiation

When people are told of the horrors of nuclear warfare, mentioned are the possibility of death from the blast and from heat. But the third and the most terrifying danger is that of radiation and fallout. Most people visualize the possibility of a slow tortuous death from even a small amount of radiation.

However, scientists have been working diligently to find means to combat radiation. It is conceded that a massive dose would almost certainly be fatal. But the possibility of finding a cure for lesser doses which might eventually prove fatal appears to be well within the range of possibility. A writer for the Wall Street Journal recently reported on the activities of scientists to find some practical means of combating the milder doses. It is hoped that it will be possible to develop a pill which soldiers under atomic attack might swallow and thereby become immune to radiation damage. This pill also would be of great value in the protection of workers against the effects of radiation in nuclear power plants or possibly to protect patients who are undergoing high radiation treatments.

The Journal article reports that the army is making an all-out research effort to produce such an anti-radiation pill. It is reported that 26 industrial, university and private laboratories have gone to work on this project. The army also is inviting anyone who has the slightest hint of a possible anti-radiation chemical to report to it. The Atomic Energy commission has classified its research on the prevention and treatment of radiation damage as "the major effort in our biomedical research program."

At the same time medical people in private institutions are busily engaged in this absorbing subject. It is reported that chemicals are known which, taken before exposure to radiation, will protect dogs, rats and mice against as much as twice the amount that ordinarily would be fatal. Reports have been made on an anti-sunburn pill made from a plant found on the banks of the Nile and upon other compounds which have given rise to hopes for the development of an anti-radiation pill. Other medical men have had success in saving humans from radiation's effects by giving them transplants of bone marrow. Radiation in some instances destroys both the marrow and the blood cells.

The story is told of the treatment of a 5-year-old girl who is the victim of blood cancer. Her life had been prolonged almost a year by the use of marrow transplants. Finally in a last effort to save her life, the doctors attempting to suppress the leukemia exposed her to twice as much radiation as is normally fatal. They then successfully countered the effect of the radiation by transferring bone marrow to her from her twin sister. The leukemia was completely suppressed for two months but has since returned. That is an experiment that was only partially successful but it has encouraged the efforts of all interested in this subject to press on in the hope of full success.

President Eisenhower has been a great exponent of the belief that war is impossible today because there is no such thing as victory for anyone. Nations that now are fighting for the right to possess the nuclear bomb would do better for themselves and the world if they were to join with those who are trying to find means to neutralize nuclear radiation which is the most horrifying feature of the weapon.

Long Term Interest Rate

President Eisenhower again has called upon Congress to remove the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government indebtedness. The President unsuccessfully pressed for this action before the adjournment of the first session.

Apparently many members of Congress believe they have a good political pose in standing against what appears to be an increase in interest rates. Actually that is not the fact. Because the government has been unable to secure long term money at 4¼ per cent it has been forced to borrow short term money at 5 per cent for notes running four years and ten months, just under the 5-year sliding line between short term and long term loans. It has paid as much as 5.099 per cent on 6-month bills.

The government is involved in a tremendous task of managing the huge national debt on a short-term basis. It now is paying $9 billion a year in interest which is $11 out of each $100 spent by the government. It is hoped that lifting of the ceiling on the long term interest rate would permit the government to sell its securities for 10 or 20 years and thus eliminate the investment funds which now are available for other purposes and tend to increase inflation. Furthermore, it is held that the removal of the interest limit actually would permit the government to get money at a lower price. While it cannot get the money at 4¼ per cent, it is quite probable that it could get money at a somewhat higher rate but for less than the 5 per cent the government is now paying on its short term loans.

Thus some congressmen are striking a pose to impress the public with the idea that they are making a stand against higher interest rates. But the public should know that in fact these congressmen by their attitude are actually preventing the government from borrowing money at a lower rate.

Among the Refuse

The Russian government has taken a surprisingly humanitarian attitude toward an army deserter who turned himself in this month. The statute of limitations for prosecution has run out, according to the official word, and the man can go free.

But one must wonder exactly how free Grisha Sikalenko will really be in his own soul. In 1942 this Ukrainian villager supposedly marched off to war and his mother later reported that he had been killed heroically fighting the Germans. But instead Sikalenko had deserted on the very day he was drafted. The only place thought safe enough for him to hide on his parents' farm was under the barnyard manure pile.

For eighteen years he lived there, afraid to speak to his mother when she brought him food, hardly daring to come up for fresh air during the hot summer nights.

Finally he could stand it no longer and he emerged, a man of 37 years, who had spent more than half his life in an odiferous hole because of his fear. True, many Ukrainians saw no reason to fight for the Russian government. True, he might have been killed in the war.

But now he must live out the rest of his life with the knowledge that others died while he lived because he was a coward. Compared to that future even his dung heap may smell sweet.

Maybe It Was Colder Back In Olden Days

Jack Rudolph in Green Bay Press Gazette

Weatherwise 1875 was even rougher than 1960. A January reading of 36 below zero wasn't unusual, but on Feb. 2 the city was battered by the worst blizzard in 18 years and virtually isolated for days.

Railroads quit running, telegraph lines were down (fortunately, there weren't any telephones to complicate the mess), and the heavy snowfall was whipped into tremendous drifts. Families had to tunnel their way out of homes.

Scarcely had the city dug itself out when it was staggered again. On Feb. 9 another blizzard swooped down, with temperatures hitting 28 below zero. Winter kept pouring it on, with a third blizzard on Feb. 24 and another as late as March 15.

In fact, on March 8 river ice was still 38 inches thick and on the 18th thermometers registered 18 below zero. Not until May 6 did the first lake vessel of the season arrive, the steamer Truesdell coming through after battling ice all the way down the bay. Its captain reported Egg Harbor and Sturgeon Bay still solidly frozen in,

Parents Must Avoid Extremes in Attitude Toward Their Children

Father Wagner in Boystown Times

How strict should parents be in dealing with their boy? It is a question that keeps bobbing up when teenage misbehavior is discussed. A common charge is that parents are too strict or are not strict enough. But how do we arrive at this opinion?

One thing we find common agreement on is that it is a mistake to be either too strict or too lenient with the boy. Both extremes seem to lessen the youth's respect for his elders. The overly strict encourage resentment in the boy. The overly lenient cause him to become indifferent to parental authority. Both results are harmful and retard adjustment.

If the boy ought not to be put in a disciplinary straight-jacket, it is equally true that he must not be allowed to run wild without restraint of any kind. Either form of neglect on the part of parents is likely to result in anti-social attitudes and cause the boy to become a self-centered mis-fit.

So many factors are involved in determining when to discipline and how to discipline that no single standard rule of guidance is possible. There are individual considerations that are never quite the same for different persons. The situation itself needs to be evaluated in the light of its present and future implications. But whatever form of discipline is used should be made to fit the boy as well as the offense.

One of the more solemn responsibilities parents have as parents is the responsibility for disciplining the boy. But such discipline should be carried out as a form of guidance. Much of the effectiveness of discipline is lost when it becomes a means of parental revenge giving release to emotions from injured pride. Good discipline is that which has the good of the boy as its objective.

Through the right kind of discipline properly administered the boy becomes a socially acceptable individual instead of a troublesome maverick. Such discipline helps to establish wholesome habits for virtuous living. It develops a sense of individual responsibility without violating individual dignity. It invites co-operation, heightens respect for others, and strengthens moral awareness.

The person who allows his emotions to run away with reason ceases to be a good disciplinarian and becomes a taskmaster. He is constantly finding fault, constantly making threats, constantly saying abusive things that tear down confidence instead of building it. He fails to distinguish between what is and what is not important.

One of the reasons for this, perhaps, is that too much is expected of the boy. Other factors, of course, also play their part and help to explain the attitude of the overly strict parent. But when too much is expected of a boy, and when the father is duty conscious, the tendency is to be unnecessarily severe.

On the other hand, a person can go to the other extreme, and show little or no interest upon the boy's behavior. His indifference places a minimum of restraint upon the boy, with the result that the boy soon discovers that he can do just about as he pleases without fear of reprisal, and does so to his own misfortune and ultimate sorrow.

In such instances, parents may be said to expect too little of the boy. They are unable to teach the boy responsibility because they lack a mature sense of responsibility themselves. When no demands are made upon the boy, or when they are made in a discrediting half-hearted manner, the boy is likely to develop the same indifference that exists in his parents.

Thoughtful and wise parents, mindful of their parental responsibilities and of the boy's well-being, strive to avoid either extreme, seeking to be firm without being intolerant and patient without being indifferent. Their attitude is rooted in genuine affection for the boy and in an understanding of his needs and capacities.

Appleton Banks Elect Directors

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 22, 1881.

The annual meeting of the Manufacturers National Bank was held Tuesday evening. On that occasion the following board of directors were chosen: C. G. Adkins, Alfred Galpin, Jr., J. P. Hawley, George H. Meyers, and G. N. Richmond. There not being a quorum of directors present, the election of officers was postponed until a future date. The affairs of this bank are in excellent condition and its business is steadily increasing.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank it was decided to increase the stock from $75,000 to $100,000. At the same meeting the following board of directors was chosen: A. L. Smith, C. B. Clark, E. C. Goff, H. J. Rogers, G. W. Spaulding, H. D. Smith and J. T. Reeve. Some of the directors being absent, the elections of officers was postponed until another time.

The condition of this institution could not be better. In addition to its large capital stock, it also has a surplus amounting to $20,000. Its volume of business is bound to increase.

Thursday, Jan. 17, 1935

A Wisconsin one-house legislature composed of not more than 30 members who would meet monthly during their 4-year terms and be paid an annual salary of $4,000 each was proposed in a resolution by Assemblyman George H. Weissleder (D), Milwaukee.

The League of Nations council unanimously voted for the annexation of the Saar Basin Territory to Germany. The council's action came as a result of last Sunday's plebiscite in which 90 per cent of the voting inhabitants of the Saar registered their desire to be reunited with the nation from which their territory was cut off by the treaty of Versailles ending World war I.

Assemblyman William Bay, Progressive, Kaukauna, who represented the second Outagamie county district, was appointed chairman of the assembly labor committee, it was announced that week by Speaker J. W. Carow, Ladysmith.

Edward C. Lowe, Menasha, was elected senior warden of St. Thomas Episcopal church. William Kellett was elected junior warden.

Under the Capitol Dome

Cities, Counties Make State Look for Funds

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—There was a useful reminder in one of Gov. Nelson's recent speeches about the real nature of the state financial crisis and the political agitation that accompanied it this year.

The governor was doubtless showing a degree of self-consciousness when he told a group of Richland Center businessmen that the real financial problem in the state today is that related to local government, and that the state has ample revenues to support its own direct state services. Yet the point tends to become obscured, however obvious it should be, and therefore probably merits some elaboration.

The state government now is sending hundreds of millions of dollars into local government treasuries, in shares of state-levied and state-collected taxes, and in generous subsidies for scores of local services, notably schools, relief and highways.

The so-called deficit about which there now is so much political agitation amounts to about $25,000,000 for the next year. Obviously if the state reduced its hand-outs to the localities even a small fraction, the deficit would disappear and the political stalemate at the capitol would evaporate.

But the fact is that the state and its localities have pooled their finances for so long that their fiscal relations have frozen.

If the mayors and city

People's Forum

Correction

A typographical error occurred recently in a letter from Frank X. Hochholzer, Neenah, which while obvious, could have given a wrong impression.

Mr. Hochholzer wrote: "Not to burden you with many figures, it is a matter of simple arithmetic to calculate this year's tax rate on the basis of Lakeview mill being in the City of Neenah. Our rate, under these conditions, this year would have been $48.53 per thousand, instead of the $53.50 we presently are paying. This doesn't take into consideration that portion of the Wisconsin state income tax we would receive from this same Lakeview property."

When the paragraph appeared it read $58.53 instead of $48.53.

councils and county boards and the others of Wisconsin were able to finance their activities out of their own locally levied taxes, the state budget would be a minor thing and the state tax issue would be strictly academic. If any state administration ever was obliged only to worry about raising the money for strictly state activities, it could offer the taxpayer a wonderful piece of bait in the form of a 40 per cent remission of state taxes, at the least.

But the state and its localities are like a wedded pair. The troubles of the localities are the troubles of the state, and there is very little to be gained in reflecting how it might have been.

The idea of state support for local services now is more than half a century old. Without state intervention the local system of roads could not have been developed to its present proficiency. It would have been impossible to authorize the generous local welfare services. The school system would have been primitive.

Although some of these activities are thought of as local, and although there is a reflex habit of calling them home ruled, in actuality they are state services only a little less truly than they are local services. Indeed, the state has accepted for decades the idea that education is a state-wide concern, although the local school boards' and locally chosen administrators remain in charge.

TAX REVISION

It has now become clear that this ancient partnership of the state and its localities requires reexamination. The demand from the local districts for parental sustenance, so to speak, is as vigorous as ever.

The local property tax, in spite of the fact that on the whole it is unfairly burdensome already, is creaking with the task of providing more dollars for the expanding responsibilities of municipal government.

The state, reflecting the pressure from the grass roots, is stretching its own traditional resources to the utmost limit in spite of embarrassing deficit complications — as in the $38,000,000 increase in state school aids approved this year.

And yet there is trouble. The local tax system cannot withstand much more pressure, according to all the authorities. The state is worried that its present tax resources cannot be stretched much more without dangerous complications in the way of economic competition.

Out of such ingredients, sooner or later, will come basic tax revision. The politicians will procrastinate, they will hesitate, and they will equivocate. But the answer is becoming clearer with each passing month.

Trumpeter Has Top Flight Bill

Pownal, Vt. — (AP) — Brian Pizzano, 13, is an eighth grade student, but he's good as a collegian when it comes to blowing a trumpet.

He proved it by gaining a spot as the only non-Williams man in the 55-member Williams college marching band.

Young Brian volunteered his services when Band Director Irwin Shaiman told four of his trumpeters from the 1958 band.

The youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Pizzano, couldn't attend marching practice with the band. So when the outfit maneuvered into its various positions at Williams football games, he got a stationary position.

Many Teachers Exceed Level Of B.S. Degree

Survey Shows Many Have Enough Credits for Master's

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Nearly half of the elementary school teachers employed in the state this year have had training exceeding the bachelor's degree, a state department of public instruction shows.

The state reviews the training attainment of teachers at annual intervals. Successive reports have shown a steady increase in the degree of professional preparation.

Teachers in the elementary grades with training ranging from 120 hours (the usual requirement for a bachelor's to 149 hours, (just short of the usual requirements for a Master's degree) represent about 48 per cent of those employed this year.

There are also 12.1 per cent who have 150 or more semester hours, or the equivalent of a master's degree attainment.

The number of those with 90 to 119 semester hours of training amounted to 16.3 percent, and 22.1 per cent had from 60 to 89 hours.

Those with less than the equivalent of two years of college amounted to 1.4 per cent, most of them working under temporary certificates permitted under state law in emergency situations.

The goal of the state school supervisory program is to have all teachers present four year training qualifications before employment.

The state report showed 18,

Change Name of E and R Church

The name of the St. John Evangelical and Reformed church was changed to St. John United Church of Christ (E and R) at the annual meeting this week.

The change was in recognition of the merger of the Evangelical and Reformed church with the Congregational church, which went into effect in 1957.

August Lieske and Donald Kaczor were reelected to the church council for 3-year terms. Donald Hertensteiner was elected new member of the council.

A budget of $32,480 was approved.

5 Florida Cultists Await Sentence for Mistreating Minors

Ocala, Fla., — Five religious cultists, who appeared in court barefoot, are awaiting sentence on charges of mistreating 18 minor children.

The group pleaded guilty yesterday before County Judge Lewis Myers, who deferred final action until he could study the case.

The five are Herbert Dockter, 43, bearded leader of the cult, and his wife Rose, 37; Dockter's brother Otto, 46, and his wife Marvel, 37; and the men's sister Edna, 35.

The children, who belonged to Rose and Marvel Dockter, said they were made to stand in awkward positions for as long as 24 hours as punishment.

The girls said they were also forced to do their chores naked.

Prosecuting Atty. E. G. Musleh said they were not permitted to go to school beyond the fourth grade.

The Dockters pleaded guilty to charges of contributing to the dependency of minors.

Kennedy Enters State's April Primary Battle

state to provide for the direct election of delegates back in 1905 — were not designed by Bob LaFollette to be used by local or regional favorite sons as a means to obtain bargaining power for convention maneuvering."

Kennedy also said the Republicans won't be given a choice of presidential candidates because of the virtually certain nomination of Vice President Nixon, but that the Democrats must provide a choice for the people in the primaries.

Remains On Sidelines

"Even though my chief competitors in the convention remain safely on the sidelines, hoping to gain the nomination through the manipulation of the convention, I can not follow the advice of those urging me not to enter this or other representative primaries," said the candidate who left Milwaukee today for Nebraska to announce a bid in that state primary.

If Kennedy wins a convincing majority of the Wisconsin delegates from Humphrey, who is making a kind of "native son" appeal here, he will blast the Minnesotan out of the running, and immeasurably enhance his own claims of being the popular choice for the nomination, in the general view of professional politicians.

But as the prize is great the risk is also enormous! A Kennedy defeat here would probably be fatal to his hopes, as the politicians and other expert observers see it.

Careful Talk

Kennedy was careful in his talk with reporters this morning in estimating his Wisconsin prospects. Repeatedly using the word "hazardous" about the Wisconsin balloting, he said he would count it a victory if he won more than half of the delegates.

He said he regards his principal adversary today is Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic majority leader in the U.S. senate.

Kennedy comes to Wisconsin as the favorite of most of the handicappers, and with the benefit of his own privately financed polls that have recently shown him that he is a 60-40 favorite over Humphrey.

The Massachusetts senator, who will make a test of the idea that major parties don't nominate Catholics for the presidency, faced the press this morning accompanied by his pretty wife and some of his principal Wisconsin supporters. He was flanked by Rep. Clement Zablocki, Milwaukee, and Mayor Ivan Nestigen of Madison.

Youngest Aspirant

Kennedy is one of the youngest of the serious aspirants for the presidency in modern times and if elected will be the youngest president since Republican Theodore Roosevelt at the turn of the century.

Kennedy made his first serious campaign efforts in Wisconsin in 1957 when he backed the candidacy of William Proxmire for U.S. senator and in the estimate of most local politicians contributed substantially to Proxmire's vote totals in the cities of eastern Wisconsin including the Fox River valley.

Proxmire for U.S. senator and in the estimate of most local politicians contributed substantially to Proxmire's vote totals in the cities of eastern Wisconsin including the Fox River valley.

Wisconsin will have 31 votes at the national Democratic convention but the votes may be split among 62 persons, each having one half of a vote. The pre-campaign calculation is that Kennedy is a favorite to win two thirds of them.

Humphrey is regarded as the favorite only in the districts of western Wisconsin influenced by their proximity to Minnesota.

Must File

Under Wisconsin law to bid for control of delegates a presidential candidate must file his own declaration of candidacy. He also is permitted to choose the delegates who will run under his banner.

Envoy Juan Pablo de Lojendio, left, is shown just before he was ousted from a Havana television studio when he sought to protest to Prime Minister Fidel Castro about the latter's attacks. A few minutes later, Castro ordered the Spanish ambassador to leave Cuba within 24 hours.

Ex-Convict Quizzed About Crash in Gulf

liner which crashed in North Carolina Jan. 6?

If Spears has given any answers, the FBI won't say. Newsmen have not been permitted to talk with him.

The extent of the FBI's interest is indicated by the $35,000 bond it asked for Spears at his arraignment on the stolen car charge yesterday before U.S. Commissioner Carey B. Wilson. Spears waived preliminary hearing and was held in lieu of the bond.

"I doubt if I could make it if you knocked $30,000 off of it," he said when the bond was set.

Investigation into the two crashes—both of National Airlines planes—is continuing by the civil aeronautics board and the senate aviation subcommittee in Washington. So far, their probes have not established that a bomb was responsible for either crash.

Denies Bombing

The crashes claimed 76 lives, 42 in the gulf and 34 near Bolivia, N. C.

A reporter asked Spears as he was booked in the jail if he bombed the plane. He laughed and replied, "No. I may make a statement tomorrow."

He is accused of driving Taylor's car from Dallas to Arizona, while he had permission to drive it only from Tampa to Dallas.

Testimony at a CAB hearing showed Taylor, 60, a Tampa tire salesman, served time with Spears in 1936. The two were said to have talked surface near the predetermined point of its fall.

"Special vessels of the Soviet navy situated in the area of the expected fall of the rocket, have made valuable telemetric measurements of the down-coming stretch of the trajectory of the flight."

Nose Cone Tracked

"The nose cone of the last stage of the rocket was tracked in flight in the atmosphere and its entry into the water was recorded by the ships' radar, optical and acoustic installations."

"As a result of the measurements it was established that the rocket fell less than 2 kilometers (1.24 miles) away from the predetermined point, which confirms the high precision of the rocket's guiding system."

"The rocket was started sharply on appointed time. The flight of the rocket as a whole and the functioning of all its stages correspond with the outlined program."

(The captain of an Australian jet airliner reported from Sydney that the Soviet rocket exploded at least 200 miles from its designated target area. Capt. R. A. Gray said he saw a "huge bright orange flashbulb going off" at 3:05 a.m. Australian time — 12:05 p.m., Wednesday. This was the same time the Russians said the rocket landed and may have been the next to last stage which Tass said disintegrated upon entering the atmosphere.)

Budget Dishes Ease Pocketbook Blues

Thursday, January 21, 1960 Appleton Post-Crescent B1

New England Cooks believe in slow, thorough cooking for the true blending of flavors in foods. Seasonings are sparse and simple, yet result in flavorful meals such as the traditional baked beans and brown bread. Here the crock of nutmeg-brown beans and bread slices are kept hot on an electrically heated tray for leisurely dining.

The Old-Fashioned Yankee Chicken Pie goes glamorous in this main course dish when it's served with a twisted lattice pastry top. It's pretty enough for a party, chock-full of nutritious ingredients and quite easy to prepare.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Food Editor

This is the peak time of year for budget blues . . . the tag end of holiday bills to meet . . . tax problems ahead . . . yet the family has to eat well and wisely to meet the needs of winter.

It behooves the smart homemaker to utilize meats, vegetables and other foods that are in good supply . . . to take advantage of bargains in markets . . . and ponder a bit over ways to make simple dishes a taste treat for hungry members of her family.

There's no need for the table to be bare or meals skimpy . . . for instance, borrow a page or two from cookbooks of thrifty New Englanders who have become masters at dishes easy on the budget . . . with recipes handed down for generations. Baked beans with wholesome brown bread have become a Saturday night ritual in New England . . . preparation begins on Friday night when the dried navy beans are put to soak . . . Yankee Chicken Pie also is from that part of the country . . . only made glamorous with a twisted lattice pastry top.

Other recipes that spell economy with a gustatory flare include Kraut-Sausage cups . . . Veal Parmigiana, an Italian dish that uses two kinds of cheese . . . and a delicious Lamb stew that has its secret in the use of seasonings.

Baked Beans

New England Style

- 1 1/2 cup dried beans
- 1 cup molasses
- 1 pound salt pork sliced
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling stock

Soak dried navy beans in water overnight. Simmer for about 30 minutes the next morning. Test for doneness by placing a few beans on a spoon and blowing on them. If skins pop, they are done. Drain beans, but reserve stock.

In separate bowl, mix molasses, salt pork, sugar, dry mustard, salt and boiling stock. Add to beans in greased bean pot; bake covered for six hours at 235-degree temperature. Uncover bean pot and continue baking for additional hour.

Boston Brown Bread

(Makes 2 Loaves)

- 1 cup rye flour
- 1 cup graham flour
- 1 cup ground corn meal
- 1 tablespoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups sour milk
- 1 cup molasses
- 1 cup chopped raisins

Mix first five dry ingredients. Combine with sour milk, molasses and raisins. (If sour milk unavailable, two tablespoons vinegar may be added to fresh milk.) Fill buttered baking cans or other utensils used for brown bread two-thirds full, not to the top. Cap and steam for two hours. Aluminum foil may be used for can tops. To steam, place cans in water in shallow baking dish. Keep oven temperature low, at about 250 degrees, or steam in deep well cooker of stove.

Yankee Chicken Pie

- 1 cut-up chicken
- 3 cups water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup cooked sliced carrots
- 1 cup thawed frozen peas
- 1 cup small boiled onions
- 3 teaspoons snipped parsley

Pastry for 10-inch double pie crust

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup light cream

Latin American Dance Club Plans Program

The Latin American Dance club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the George Williams room at the YMCA. A demonstration and instruction period, record dancing, refreshments and a brief business meeting are on the evening's program.

Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Miller.

Supper Salad

Dress canned green beans (drained) with mayonnaise mixed with cream; add bits of anchovy fillets and serve surrounded with greens for a supper salad. Nice with sliced roast veal.

Plentiful Pork Sausage, apples and eggs team up with low-cost sauerkraut in this unusual treatment of an old winter favorite. The Kraut-Sausage Cups may be prepared early in the day, then popped in the oven along with a casserole of scalloped potatoes for an especially bountiful meal.

The Combination of Lamb Cubes, nonfat dry milk, savory onions and carrots make this hearty stew both a nourishing and economical dish. Delicious when prepared with an imaginative choice of seasonings, stews may be made in quantity for second and even third meals. Most homemakers say their families enjoy a good stew better the second time it's served.

Lamb Stew

- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
- 1 cup onion, minced
- 1 cup carrots, sliced
- 1 cup peas, frozen
- 1 cup small potatoes, cubed
- 1 cup lamb cubes
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk powder

Combine sausage, eggs and crumbs; mix well. Press on bottom and sides of six individual baking dishes. Bake in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Drain off drippings. Drain kraut. Combine kraut and remaining ingredients; mix well. Fill sausage cups with kraut mixture. Bake 20 minutes.

Combine flour, nonfat dry milk powder and seasonings in a strong paper bag. Drop Turn to Page 4, Col. 1

Two Kinds of Cheese are used in this Italian dish of Veal Parmigiana to give it its distinctive character. Grated, sharp Parmesan is mixed with the breading that coats the meat and slices of smooth Mozzarella are melted over the top of the dish after it has cooked.

Combine sausage, eggs and crumbs; mix well. Press on bottom and sides of six individual baking dishes. Bake in 350-degree oven for 40 minutes. Drain off drippings. Drain kraut. Combine kraut and remaining ingredients; mix well. Fill sausage cups with kraut mixture. Bake 20 minutes.

Punished Girl Thinks Past Should be Erased From Slate

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in the eighth grade and will be celebrating my 13th birthday in three weeks. At present I am being punished for four separate things. First I am not allowed to use the telephone for three days. Second, I can't watch television for one whole week. Third, I can't go ice-skating for two weeks. And fourth, I can't go anywhere on my birthday no matter where I am invited by my friends. Don't you think, Mrs. Landers, that when a girl's first birthday is so close that everything in the past should be erased from the slate so she can make a brand new start in life? I mean all the bad things should be forgotten and she can begin fresh. Please help me.—Unhappy Teen-To-paid your debt to society that you will have profited from this terrible siege of solitary confinement. Happy birthday.

DEAR ANNIE: I got transferred from the Big D (Dallas to you, Doll), to this impossible burg called Chicago. I must say I've never seen such a collection of square-dames in all my life.

I asked a buddy I work with to fix me up with a chick last Saturday night. He drew a choir kid who wears her hair in a knot like my Aunt Sarah. I've never written to an agony column before, but I caught your piece in the paper and you sound like a hard-boiled shrewd who might give me a straight steer. Where can I find a jolly dish who likes kicks and will pitch a little?—Stranger In Town.

Dear Stranger: Define

your terms, Texas. Exactly what do you mean by "jolly dish" and what is your idea of "pitching a little"? Find your own trouble. I'm here to solve problems—not create 'em.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 15-year-old girl who is so ashamed I don't know what to do. A girl I'm friendly with went away with her mother for three months. (Her grandmother was sick in another state.) When she returned she was quite a bit heavier. I started a rumor about her. I didn't realize it would get around so fast or that anyone would really believe it. Well, it spread like wildfire. The gossip got back to the girl and her family and it made them just sick.

They know I started it and now I can't look them in the face. I wish I was dead. Please tell me what to do. I'm willing to do anything to square this.—Worthless Person.

Dear Worthless: Step up and accept your award for Miss Vicious of the Year (Female skunk division). There's only one thing to do now. Go to the girl and her family and beg their forgiveness. Then make it your business to retrace your steps and go to every person you told the "rumor" to and admit that you lied.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Mother's Helper

by Heilmann & Pearson

Extra-large napkins or ample aprons needed for this birthday party idea! For each guest, bake a small cake in a foil pan (but don't ice it). At each place, have a paper cup full of frosting, a small dish with spoonfuls of colorful cake, a candle with holder—and a butter spreader. Let each decorate her own cake, to take home. Have a big cake to share at the party. (Copyright 1960)

Teething Baby Needs to Chew, Doctor Advises

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
"But doctor, he won't swallow, he just holds it in his mouth. Yesterday after Andy's nap I found an old water-logged prune skin in his mouth. It was hours since he had had lunch." Andy was about 2½. What he wanted in the way of food was completely smooth material he could swallow without any chewing at all. Food that couldn't go down whole Andy either spit out or held in his mouth like the prune skin. Many a child runs into this problem. He just doesn't seem to know how to chew and swallow. Like many other baby problems this is more easily avoided than cured. To avoid chewing troubles everything he can grab hold of goes to his mouth. He bites and chews on anything movable within reach. His hands are constantly in his mouth and he chews on them. Sometimes the edge of his crib or playpen is a favorite chewing block. A teething baby chews on everything. At the age when your baby is teething he has also grown up enough so that he can use his hands quite well. The stage of waving them about aimlessly has passed. Your baby can deliberately pick up things now and get them more or less where he wants them to go. At this stage your baby uses his hands to grab. He chews on whatever he puts into his mouth which is most everything—he chews like mad to help push his teeth through his gums. Now is the time to let him know that food is to chew.

In Good Taste Man Should Take Room At Hotel

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband who is in his late 30s will be going to another city for two days very shortly on business. His youngest sister, in her 20s, who shares an apartment with another girl in this city has asked my husband to stay at their apartment using the living room sofa, rather than go to a hotel. I think this would be most improper.

Answer: Because of the other young woman your husband should not accept his sister's invitation. He should take a room at a hotel.

Make the Effort

Dear Mrs. Post: The invitations to my wedding were sent out about 10 days ago with printed reply cards to insure an answer. I have noticed that on several of the cards that have been returned, some of the married couples have taken the liberty of including their children even though the invitations were addressed to Mr. and Mrs. alone. I had not counted on these extras. Is there anything I can do about this?

Answer: There will surely be very few couples who will assume that their children are invited and bring them, and I think it will be wiser to make the effort and prepare for these extras rather than risk offending their parents by telling them they can't bring their children to your wedding.

Dear Mrs. Post: My nephew is soon to be married and he and his prospective bride would like very much to have his mother, a professional lyric soprano sing at their wedding. Do you think this would be in good taste?

Answer: If his mother is willing to sing, there is certainly no reason why she may not.

Eating Soup

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like to have you settle a discussion in regard to the correct way to eat soup. Is it spooned away from one of toward one?

Answer: Away from one.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet E-503, entitled "Etiquette of Service," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Missouri Coeds Try Gun-Totin'

Columbia, Mo. —(U)— Missouri university coeds are proving that if you can't get a man with a gun, you can at least get a rabbit.

Gun-totin' girls may be seen almost any dawn these days, accompanying campus sportsmen on early-morning rabbit hunts. And when a pretty coed draws a bead on a scampering cottontail, the admiration of her male companions is unrestrained.

Rabbit hunting has been a favorite sport of male students in these parts for years. But only recently have the girls joined the shotgun brigade.

Gun Girls
Students say that they have taken up the sport to disprove the current belief that the new generation is too "beat" to do anything but brood morbidly, write glum poetry, paint modern or pound monotonously on bongo drums.

A rabbit hunt before breakfast, they point out, is healthful, wholesome, invigorating and fun.

The girls taking part in the new campus craze are not only the female agriculture students who prow the campus in blue jeans and 10-gallon hats. Enthusiastically in their modest are sorority girls bent on proving that they, too, are interested in the outdoor life, and can shine on the hunting range as well as the dance floor.

Coed Pioneers
The girls are shattering old beliefs about feminine squeamishness at the sight of blood or the sound of guns. The frontier instinct just naturally takes over when you tramp the hills and dales with a gun on your shoulder.

These sports-minded coeds do everything, including fire the gun. Often they are seen in the role of retriever, when the faithful hound is not available. And this willingness and skill wins amazed admiration from the boys.

The best thing about it, say the young men, is that the girl hunters not only can get their rabbits — they also can cook them when the hunters come home.

What more wholesome start for an academic day than a rabbit bake for breakfast?

Brilliant Repertory Displayed by Canadian Players in Day of Drama

'Cherry Orchard', 'Taming of Shrew' Fine Examples of Skill of Traveling Actors

BY JAY JOSELYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Canadian Players presented contrasting performances in a day of drama at the Mary A. P. Stansbury theater at Lawrence college Wednesday.

The afternoon performance was an impeccable presentation of Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard," which wove a spell of 19th century Russian elegance.

The evening staging of "The Taming of the Shrew" was day.

A light caricature of the Shakespearean comedy replete with vaudeville turns, including a three stages bit, and a wide range of styles of costumes.

Finer Display
The afternoon effort was a finer display of the Canadians' art, but both were well received by near capacity audiences. Taken together, the program was a tribute to the skill of perhaps the finest traveling troupes on the road to day.

Highway Bill on Way to Governor For Approval

Madison — A bill which would liberalize payments to owners of land condemned for highway and other public purposes is on its way to Gov. Gaylord Nelson's desk today.

The assembly concurred in a senate amendment, completing legislative action. It also passed a joint resolution authorizing the governor to sign a typewritten copy.

An almost identical measure was passed last summer, but Nelson declined to sign it then because he said it would hamstring the highway commission's program of setting up controlled access roads.

The senate amendment would bar the commission from restricting driveways opening onto state roads.

The measure would liberalize payments for land purchases by making compensable such items as loss of rentals, cost of refinancing, need for property realignment and damages due to grade changes. Commission estimates set the additional cost to the state at $5 million a biennium.

Contrasting Roles
Max Helpmann appeared in "Cherry Orchard" as a heavy-handed peasant who but recently had become a successful businessman and was torn by his ascendancy over the aristocracy. In the evening he was the masterful and bluff Petruchio, the tamer of the shrew.

Tudi Wiggins, in the afternoon, was a hauntingly lonely, shy girl as Varia, and in the evening bloomed into the shrewish Kate.

Both appeared to better effect in the Chekhov offering. Perhaps the strain of two performances with a cocktail party thrown in between took its toll. Helpmann's Petruchio had fits of ennui and Miss Wiggins' timing and wit was marred by the lack of authoritative voice.

Elegant Russian
Carrying the elegant Russian offering was Jacqueline Barnett as Mme. Panyevska. Her deft touch prevented the Russian irrational flightiness and exaggerated sentimentality that has served comedians with fine burlesque material from stepping out of tune with the dreamlike nature of the piece.

Claude Bede turned in a winningly elegant Gaev in "Cherry Orchard" and handled lesser assignments in the evening just as well.

Charles Palmer's transformation from the ancient retainer in the "Cherry Orchard" to a rambunctious graybeard suitor in the "Shrew" was brilliant. He even doubled as an exasperated tailor in the latter piece.

Mervyn Blake performed mightily as a perfect Russian optimist and was equally convincing as an Italian father in the evening.

Perhaps the most startling transformation was performed by Gary Plaxton. He was an ineffectual, misfortune-plagued clerk in the afternoon and then carried off the juvenile lead as Lucentio in the evening.

Seldom, if ever, has an audience been given the opportunity to witness such a demonstration of consummate skill as was offered Wednesday. It is a pity and a wonder the house turned up with a total of 210 empty seats.

Make Gibleb Sandwich Spread
Chicken giblets need from one to one and a half-hours when they are being simmered in water. Turkey giblets take from two to three hours. Put the giblets through a food chopper, then mix them with crisply-cooked crumbled bacon, mayonnaise and salt and pepper for a fine sandwich spread.

Catastrophe Death Rate Drops in '59

Accidents With Five or More Killed Total 1,400

Catastrophes — accidents in which five or more persons lost their lives — killed more than 1,400 persons in 1959, or about 150 fewer than in the preceding year, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company report.

The more favorable record for 1959 reflects the decreased number of fatal injuries in major catastrophes — accidents in which at least 25 people are killed. The loss of life in such catastrophes dropped from nearly 430 in 1958 to about 175 last year, an appreciably lower toll than in any year since 1941.

Four of the five major catastrophes in 1959 involved civil aviation. In February, a plane plunged into the East river in New York City, killing 65; another plane disintegrated in the air in a thunderstorm near Baltimore in May, taking 31 lives; in October a crash near Charlottesville, Va., killed 26; and 25 died when a plane rammed a mountain near Williamsport, Pa., Dec. 1. The fifth major catastrophe was a series of earthquakes which took place Aug. 17 in the area of West Yellowstone, Mont., claiming about 29 victims.

Motor vehicle accidents were responsible for about two-fifths of the lives lost in catastrophes last year. Fires and explosions accounted for about one-fourth and civil aviation for somewhat less than one-fifth of such deaths. The remaining fatalities were very largely due to natural catastrophes and to accidents involving military aviation, water transportation and railroads.

Notes Need for Political Debate

Byrnes Outlines Goals of Future In First of GOP House Speeches

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, chairman of the house Republican policy committee, has told the house membership that "public political debate over real (election) issues is an absolute necessity" before the voters go to the polls in November.

Leading off in the first of an announced series of Republican speeches to be given on the floor, the Wisconsin congressman warned that "we stand at the dawn of the new decade." He added that the 1960's were "horizoned with both rich promise and awesome peril."

"Ironically, in the space age, the exploration of new horizons in human relations and government on earth will be even more important than the exploration of outer space," Byrnes declared. "As we look to the decade of the 1960's, one course of action would be to meet the challenges of promise and peril by turning back, diluting the pioneer spirit, meeting Russian statism by greater statism at home, spending extravagantly today and letting our children pay the awful debts tomorrow," he continued. "The other course is to meet the challenges by advancing toward them with courage, free creativity, meeting Russian centralization and regimentation with greater incentives and leadership at home, putting our financial house in order, providing an inheritance of freedom and prosperity for our children, and granting the economic health to flourish over the centuries."

In order to meet the challenges of the current decade, Byrnes said, a political party must possess four qualities.

More United
"First, a political party must possess a basic degree of unity and purpose," Byrnes stated. "Secondly, a coherent, forward-looking philosophy based on principles; thirdly, democracy within the party organization and fourthly, a responsibility towards future generations of Americans."

In analyzing these requirements with respect to the Republican party, Byrnes made the following observations:

The Republican party is more united today than perhaps ever before in its history, as it is not torn apart by "regional differences"; there is no "strife between its national and state elements" and "its leader can speak for the whole party, not for just fragments of it."
The Republican party is one of principle. It "would rather be right even if it means sacrificing a political victory; it believes that individual freedom is man's most valuable possession."

The Republican party has real democracy and representation within its ranks and "political bossism is the exception rather than the rule," and it is "remarkably free from the political machines which plague the other major party." He added that the Republican party "has refused to sell its soul for the votes promised by union bosses."

Forward Looking
Regarding the fourth requirement as to whether the Republican party is forward-looking and concerned with the welfare of future generations, Byrnes declared that "no other principle of the Republican party is as deep and instinctive as our belief that no generation can live solely for itself but instead has the heaviest of obligations to preserve the nation and its institutions, strengthened and improved, for those who follow."

"As an example," Byrnes added, "we Republicans are the leaders in the fight against inflation, against excess spending, and are for sound taxing policies, and in support of rational debt management."

"The Finished Roll is wound up here," Norman Feistel, Appleton, tells a group of Chamber of Commerce members as they toured Riverside Paper corporation Wednesday. More than 120 chamber members saw production of Riverside's sulphite writing and ledger paper. From left are Feistel, rewinder operator; F. A. Meythaler, president of Appleton Juvenile Furniture company; Otto A. Hansen, treasurer of the chamber; Gus A. Zuehlke, chamber president; and Charles Hawkinson, member of the Riverside sales department.

Law and You

TV Courtroom Drama Based On Laws for Fair Trials

If you like to watch tv or listen to radio plays containing dramatic courtroom scenes you've wondered if the legal procedures dramatized there are really like what goes on in an actual courtroom trial.

At tense moments the opposition lawyer is always jumping up to shout: "Objection! The evidence is inadmissible, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial."

Then the judge will say, "Objection sustained," or "Objection overruled. The witness may proceed."

Does this really happen just like that in a trial?

Yes, except that it may not be quite so dramatic in the courtroom. Writers of courtroom drama for the radio and tv have to know their law, or the station would get hundreds of letters of protest.

Grounds for Objection

The law holds that an objection to evidence must state the grounds on which it is based — at least where the reasons for the objection are not apparent. The classifications, "inadmissible," "incompetent," "irrelevant," and "immaterial" are well known to lawyers and judges as grounds for objection, and usually the judge does not need further explanation.

However when the grounds are not apparent, he will ask for it. In such cases the judge may have the jury leave the courtroom while the lawyers explain what they hope to prove if the evidence is admitted.

Have you ever noticed that an attorney never gets up and says, "Your honor, I'd like to object to some testimony given yesterday?"

That's because legally an objection to admitting evidence must generally be made when the evidence is offered, or not at all.

These rules, technical as they may seem, are to assure a fair trial by keeping out testimony that is not pertinent and proper.

California Nabs

Sacramento, Calif. — The California Highway patrol cited 955,159 erring drivers in the first 11 months of 1959. Of those, 283,260 were for speeding and 12,521 for drunken driving.

Production of Paper Viewed

122 C of C Men See Operations at Riverside Firm

The process of turning raw pulp into sulphite ledger and writing paper was viewed Wednesday by 122 Appleton Chamber of Commerce members when they toured the Riverside Paper corporation.

The 2-hour tour showed the step-by-step production of school notebooks, drawing, writing and construction papers from their beginning in a hydropulper, which turns Kraft paper stock into pulp, to the converting department, where the paper is trimmed, finished and packaged.

School Papers
One-third of Riverside's sales are in school papers, such as loose leaf fillers, notebooks and wire-bound pads.

The remainder is in papers used for mimeograph reproduction, writing and drawing.

Eugene F. Davis, Riverside president, told the visitors increased production and employment of local labor is the goal of the corporation.

The company employs 330 people, 280 of them on an hourly basis. Sixty-one are women. The annual payroll for 1959 was $24 million, and the investment per employee is $14,500.

Total assets of the company are $5.75 million and sales in 1959 were slightly over $8 million. The company produced 50 million pounds of paper in 1959.

Regents Pass Graduate Study For 7 Colleges

Action Follows Rejection of Funds In Governor's Budget

Madison — The board of state college regents voted Wednesday to begin graduate programs at seven state colleges.

The action followed the legislature's rejection of a proposal in Gov. Gaylord Nelson's 1960 - 61 budget which would have made funds available.

The regents said the graduate programs would be in a reduced form. Stout and Superior already have initiated graduate courses.

Study Financing
A study of federal or private financing that might be employed to underwrite the cost of a 2-year dormitory building program was approved by the regents.

Housing for an additional 1,320 students is scheduled for completion Sept. 1, 1961, at Oshkosh, River Falls, La Crosse, Platteville, Stevens Point and Whitewater. The total cost is set at $3,720,000.

An additional 1,200 students would be accommodated with completion of the second year of the program Sept. 1, 1962, at a cost of $3,240,000. The program would bring new dorms to Eau Claire, Platteville, Stout, Whitewater, Oshkosh and Stevens Point.

The regents also recommended 62 new faculty positions to meet increased enrollments next year.

Bong Air Base Bill Passed

Madison — The Wisconsin senate passed Wednesday an assembly-approved bill that would enable the state to acquire and develop the 3,400-acre abandoned Bong air force base near Kansasville.

The vote sending the proposal to the governor's desk was 30 to 3.

The measure would set up a Wisconsin federal surplus property development commission with authority to handle the transition of surplus lands to private ownership.

The commission would consist of five members appointed by the governor with consent of the senate.

A $5,000 annual appropriation is attached to the bill to cover expenses of the commission.

G. T. Fredrickson New Soo Agent

George T. Fredrickson, a veteran railroad man with 32 years experience, is the new Soo Line agent in Appleton. He began work Monday.

During his years with the railroad, Fredrickson has served in 50 stations in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois, including those at Neenah, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Waupaca.

Fredrickson, originally from Ironwood, Mich., was agent in Hurley for the last five years. His family still lives in Ironwood, although Fredrickson is looking for permanent quarters in Appleton and plans to move here in spring. He has one son.

Fredrickson replaces L. M. Pointer, former agent, who retired and moved to Tucson, Ariz.

Sheboygan Woman Dies in Apartment Fire

Sheboygan — Mrs. Ardyce Hislop, 29, died Wednesday night in a fire that broke out in her apartment while she was alone.

Her body was found near the entry door to her quarters, one of four apartments in the building. There was no damage to other units.

The fire was confined to a sofa on which Mrs. Hislop had apparently been resting. It appeared she was awakened by the smoke and tried to reach the door.

Lawrence Says

Honesty, Tact Characterize Ike's 6 Years

Attitude Change
Was Due to One
Term's Experience

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Seven years have passed since the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president of the United States on Jan. 20, 1953. The polls show his popularity to be at a very high point. Irrespective of party, there is a feeling of admiration for the man himself. It is not based so much on official actions taken but on the spirit of conciliation and good will he has manifested in the conduct of national and international policies.

Partisans will naturally differ on whether the Eisenhower administration has been a political success. The Republican party has not been strong enough to elect a Republican majority in both houses of congress for the last six years of the Eisenhower administration. But on the broad issues — the maintenance of peace and the handling of the recent economic recession — there is today a general vote of confidence in the president.

There are always suppositions which do not explain the upward turn of the curve of popularity. One of these is that Mr. Eisenhower suddenly became a full-fledged president when John Foster Dulles passed away and Sherman Adams resigned. The president would be the first to say that Mr. Dulles was not the inflexible person he was so often described to be. It is being said that Mr. Eisenhower wouldn't have engaged in personal diplomacy had Mr. Dulles lived. But the president went to the "summit" conference in 1955 with Mr. Dulles at his side.

Growth in Office
Sherman Adams did operate the executive staff somewhat differently than it is being carried on today. But the mere change in staff formula could hardly account for the emergence of Mr. Eisenhower as a successful president.

Perhaps the real reason is so simple it is easily overlooked. A president cannot familiarize himself with all the requirements of his job in four years, so it is in the second term that he really begins to feel sure-footed. The advisers who surround a chief executive often overwhelm a president with their intimate knowledge of governmental affairs.

Mr. Eisenhower has made mistakes and in some controversies has not always come out on top. But he does have the courage of his convictions. He sticks to principle when there is something fundamental involved. He has learned that in the legislative world the give-and-take process is sometimes essential to progress.

Conflict in Congress
Many people do not realize how difficult the presidency really is for any man who does not have a majority of his own party in congress. Long after the present generation has passed into history, the Eisenhower tact and good nature, as well as diplomacy, in dealing with congress will be pointed to as an excellent example of successful co-operation between the two branches of government, especially in international relations.

Mr. Eisenhower hasn't always had the best cabinet personnel, but he has done far more himself to exercise leadership on national as well as international policies than the public generally realizes. The president has learned by experience, and that's why he asserts himself far more today than when he first took office. He feels now that he knows the job and that his judgment, based on actual experience with some problems, is as good as that of some of his advisers. He receives a lot of factual information and quickly absorbs it, but in retrospect it will be affirmed by those who have an intimate knowledge of the present administration that President Eisenhower has always been his own master.

Mr. Eisenhower has proved in seven years that a man without a technical knowledge of the many problems of government today can nevertheless conduct himself as an effective leader by the simple process of using common sense and common honesty as his guide.

Alderman Hits State Delay on Traffic Lights

Mueller Asks Check Into Wisconsin, Meade Proposal

Ald. Donald Mueller Wednesday demanded the city check immediately into what's holding up state approval of the traffic control plan for the Wisconsin avenue - Meade street intersection.

Mueller pushed the plan through the public safety committee and the city council, but needed state highway commission approval has not come.

The plan calls for signals which permit cross-lane free turns.

Mayor Mitchell ruled the check should be made by the public safety committee.

Other Requests

Other requests, previously unreported, which the mayor referred to committees for recommendations:

Ald. John Schumacher asked for street improvements for three sections in his ward. Included are sewer and water for N. Ulman street, Pershing street to the Highway 41 service road; sewer and grading and graveling of Owassa street, Lindbergh street to Highway 41; and water and grading and graveling of Pershing street, McDonald street to Ballard road.

C. Robert Schindler, land surveyor, asked for approval of tentative lot layouts of First Addition to Gillett Highlands, Walter Klitzke plat and the Replat of Block 1, Westview plat. Principal owners of the land are Walter Klitzke, Christian Vanden Heuvel, Nicholas and Cyril Griesbach, Richard Schouten and Armund Sindahl. There are about 300 lots shown on the plats, all in the northwest corner of the city.

Eugene N. Garvey submitted the final Hansen-Bassett plat, north of E. Newberry street at the east city limits, for approval. Owners are Otto A. Hansen, E. W. Bassett and Nick J. Schaefer. Some 116 lots are shown in the 38-acre tract annexed in September, 1958.

Church Request

First English Lutheran church council President, Earl Arnold, requested permission for the church to re-plant the sidewalk and curb on the Ida street side of the church property to provide a driveway into a parking area for the pastor and church employees.

Henry Loehr, route 2, Hilbert, asked for a license to sell beer at Marcell's restaurant, 406 W. College avenue. Mrs. Fidelia E. Rademacher, operator of the restaurant, sought the license earlier but ran into the council's long-standing policy of not issuing any type of tavern licenses to other than recent widows of license holders.

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider said he wants a street light placed at the south terminus of Lee street.

Ald. Homer Malmstrom requested more illuminating street lights at Washington street intersections with Drew and Durkee streets.

Richmond PTA Will Discuss Communism

"Principles of Communist Indoctrination" will be the subject of a general discussion at a meeting of the Richmond school PTA at 8 p.m. today in the teachers' lounge at the school.

Floor Beams for the Onelda street drawbridge now under construction across the government canal are shown being laid in place by Hennes Trucking company, a sub-contractor on the $750,000 project. The three floor beams between the two water-spanning girders will be joined by three others and all of them will be joined by five spans of cross beams. The bridge will be opened sometime this summer.

Garvin Gillham Arrested While In Hospital Bed

Chicagoan Charged With Murder of New London Farmer

Wauwaca — Warrants charging first degree murder were read to Garvin Gillham of Chicago Wednesday afternoon by Sheriff Ray Abrahamson at New London.

Gillham is charged with murdering Frank Heideman, 40, a New London farmer, who employed Gillham's former wife as a housekeeper.

The four warrants read to the hospitalized 35-year-old officially placed him under arrest. However, he has been under 24-hour guard since the shooting Jan. 8 at the Heideman farm north of New London.

The charges are first degree murder in Heideman's death, attempted first degree murder of his former wife, Gloria, attempted first degree murder of County Patrolman Lyle McCully, and causing great bodily harm to Gloria.

Gillham will remain at New London Community hospital for at least one more week.

Dr. John W. Monsted, Wauwaca county deputy coroner, who is attending Gillham, reported that Gillham is recovering from the bullet wound in his chest, although there is internal damage where the bullet went through a portion of his lung.

Mrs. Gillham was released from the hospital last week. She was shot in the stomach and thigh. She is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Finkle, W. Beacon avenue.

Proxmire to Get Chance to Explain Stand on Durfee

Washington — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) gets his chance today to tell why he is against the nomination of James R. Durfee of Wisconsin to be a member of the 5-judge U. S. court of claims.

Proxmire has declined to say in advance of a hearing what his reasons are. Durfee, new chairman of the civil aeronautics board, has said he was ready at any time to answer any questions about his qualifications. A hearing on the nomination is scheduled today.

Durfee has the backing of Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), one of the three members of the senate judiciary subcommittee conducting the hearing.

"He is a man of integrity," Wiley said. "He is well qualified for the position on the court. I know of nothing that would reflect against him. He has held high offices in Wisconsin."

utes elapsed between the call and the arrival of the rescue squad, the company said.

Appleton Elk Named Winner in Ritual Contest

Northside Parking Next, Pair Says

The regional planning commission should furnish a plan for immediate and future off-street parking lots on Wisconsin avenue, Aldermen Tucker and Mueller told the city council Wednesday in a joint resolution.

"Appleton," said the pair, "recognizes the value of local and professional municipal planning assistance. Assistance in day-to-day municipal planning is part of the contract entered into with the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission."

Mayor Mitchell referred the resolution to the public safety committee for recommendation of a line of action.

More Beet Production Could Hike Allotments

USDA Representative Explains Background Of Allocation Changes to Growers

Chilton — Greater efficiency in farming and more sugar beets produced per acre will help Wisconsin sugar beet growers gain greater acreage allotments, A. A. Greenwood, of the Commodity Stabilization service to the U. S. department of agriculture, told growers here Tuesday.

He spoke at the annual state meeting of the Wisconsin Sugar Beet Growers association. As the sugar market expands there will be a need for more sugar, he said. If each state uses up its allotment of sugar beets yearly these allotments are sure to rise, he added.

Greenwood traced the succession of events which led Wisconsin sugar beet allotments to drop from a high of more than 13,000 acres in the mid 1950s to 8,634 in 1959. In 1954, a total of 13,900 acres of beets were planted on 1,129 farms in the state, he said. Of this amount, only 11,000 acres were harvested. Before the 1955 crop was harvested, the sugar refinery at Menominee, Mich., closed. That year, less than half of 12,865 allotted acres were planted. This left only the Menominee sugar refinery at Green Bay to handle all state sugar beets, Greenwood said.

In 1956 and 1957 less than half of 13,014 allotted acres again were planted. By 1958 the record of under planting caught up with the state and allocations were dropped by the federal government to 8,607 acres. A federal reserve allotment increased the acreage to 8,877 acres. The allocation for 1960 of 9,174 acres is 540 more than the 1959 figure.

No Shortage

"There is no sugar shortage today," Greenwood said. "The rate of consumption is up 4.5 per cent a year, compared to a 1.5 per cent population growth."

"Sugar beet acreage in the United States is up 23 per cent and labor costs per ton have been cut 25 per cent," Greenwood added.

He went on to explain how the federal sugar act protects United States producers through quota systems. Quotas are set by the secretary of agriculture for amounts of foreign sugar the U. S. will accept, Greenwood said.

Price Lower

Only quota sugar can be sold in the U. S. This keeps local markets assured of business and allows them to plan ahead, he added.

Only two companies in the United States received more per 100-pound bag of sugar sold in 1958 than did Menominee Sugar Refinery, Green Bay, Loren S. Armbruster, growers' field secretary for the Farmers and Manufacturing Sugar Beet association, Saginaw, Mich., told the growers.

Dumping Grounds

Farmers may find they will receive lower prices for their sugar in this area because of a Chicago dumping ground, he said. Sugar which cannot be sold in other areas of the nation is sent to Chicago for sale.

Extension of the sugar act is being sought at present in congress, he said. The act expires next December.

More than $21 million is spent in the U. S. for sugar beet research, Armbruster said. Of this amount $1,600,000 is spent by companies and some $600,000 by the USDA and colleges.

Proxmire May be Out as 'Favorite Son'

Post-Crescent News Service

Milwaukee—Sen. John Kennedy's announcement that he will challenge Sen. Hubert Humphrey for the control of the Wisconsin delegation to the national Democratic party convention this year probably puts an end to the talk about Sen. William Proxmire entering the Wisconsin presidential preference primary as a "favorite son."

The Wisconsin junior senator had been interested in running as a means of controlling the Wisconsin delegation, and had inspired the publicity about the possibility of his candidacy.

But under the terms of his own previous statements, he is now obliged to withdraw his name from the speculation. He had repeatedly said he might run if there was not a contest here between at least two bona fide national stature candidates.

On the House

Readers Beat Editors Every Time

On Trip Suggestions, Says Charlie

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Hearts of readers are softer than hearts of editors: I have proof.

Already, from letters, postal cards and telephone calls which have come in answer to my request for a suggestion for an adventure, I have learned that editors are much meaner than anybody.

When I requested a trip suggestion from the boss, he promptly assigned me to walk across Lake Michigan, ice floes and all.

To the same request, made (with the boss's approval) to the readers, I have received some very interesting ideas.

A lady in Appleton suggests a tour to Europe and a visit (plus a full, detailed report) to places overseas which bear the names of Wisconsin cities.

"There are literally hundreds of them," she said, "like Denmark, Luxembourg, Brussels, London, New London, Cambridge, Florence, Milan, Genoa, Hamburg, Manchester, Berlin, New Berlin, Kingston, Stratford, Krakow, Plymouth, Birmingham and many, many others."

"People would like to read about places for which their towns may be named," she said.

A gentleman of Marytown thinks it would be interesting if I took the route of Napoleon and his grand army into Russia and return by the same route — in the winter time, just as Napoleon did with the straggling army that was left by the hardships of the weather.

Fountain of Youth

"Retrace the steps of Ponce de Leon," writes a lady of DePere, "and — as he tried — you try to find the fountain of youth. When you find it," she adds, "let me know!"

Another reader from Appleton writes: "Your own idea of following the trail of Johnny Applesseed is a good one."

horses and an old fashioned wagon. We could make it into a real, old-fashioned covered wagon and then we could ship it East somewhere and then travel west, just as the pioneers did in the early days of our country. I'd like to go along and I wouldn't charge anything for the wagon or the horses. Just traveling expenses for me and you, if your boss would stand still for that. . . ."

"I think your boss is just terrible if he doesn't let you go and visit some nice, warm island in the Pacific. After the hard times you had on your long canoe trip, I think you deserve a good rest. You could get lots of stories, fishing with the natives, having pretty native girls patting your feet, and basking in the sun." So writes a nice lady of Green Bay.

Another Green Bay fellow simply wrote on a postal card: "Mexico."

More Ideas, Please

There is the first batch of suggestions. May I have more ideas?

The boss has agreed that I could go where the majority wished me to travel, and to report on what seems the most popular subjects.

That means I'm yours to assign. Will you send me where you wish me to go?

And please write within the next day or so while the boss is in his present good mood.

Gunsel Out Of Race For Chief's Job

Post-Crescent News Service

Miami Beach — The National Football league is floundering around in high seas without a captain — and Bert Bell is being missed more each hour here.

The league is trying to select a commissioner to replace the late Mr. Bell who usually (1) let the owners fight until they were exhausted and then (2) settled the issue with one command.

They're Exhausted
The clubs are scrapping right now and they're exhausted — but there's nobody around to put the foot down.

The battle to elect a "captain" started about 11 a.m. Wednesday — an hour after the league heard a pitch from Miami to enter the league. The fiftieth round in the commissioner fuss ended at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday — with no decision.

"No, it's not chaos," Packers representatives Dominic Olejniczak and Vince Lombardi agreed, "we just can't agree on the right man."

No Morning Session
Lombardi figured the commissioner will be elected in this afternoon's session, which was to start at 1 p.m. There was no meeting this morning.

Fifteen ballots were taken on the commissionership and Marshall Leahy, the San Francisco attorney, ranked second in the first 10 or so until the big break Wednesday night.

The eighth ballot of the night session finished with Leahy getting seven votes, and Baltimore General Manager Don Kellelt four, with one abstaining.

The appearance of Kellett's name on the ballot indicated that Gunsel was dead and the Baltimore executive had taken his place. Kellett, who is recuperating in Florida from illness suffered after the Colts' championship victory, may be the darkhorse who could win the commissionership.

Kellett is not here but he likely will show Thursday, which could be the reason for no meeting this morning.

Already Agrees
Leahy is solidly backed by a large group that includes Green Bay despite the fact that the West coast executive will insist on moving the league office to San Francisco. He already has agreed to give up his law practice.

The Kellett faction is headed by Carroll Rosenbloom, who apparently switched from Gunsel to Kellett along with the Redskins, Cardinals and Bears. The millionaire owner of the Colts feels strongly about keeping the present league office force intact, under Kellett. Gunsel undoubtedly would remain in the league office—so would Bert Bell, Jr.

The surprise Wednesday afternoon came when Art Rooney, the Steeler owner and a staunch friend of Bell, switch-

NOTES and NOTIONS

If you've been thinking of basketball as a game for the youngest of the young men, you'll find the National Basketball association's all-star rosters quite a revelation. Three of the East's starters in Friday night's pro classic are 31 years old. They are Bob Cousy, Paul Arizin and Dolph Schayes. Two of the five Eastern reserves are 33-year-old Bill Sharman and 31-year-old George Yardley. Only one of the West's players has hit the 30 mark (Clyde Lovellette), but most of the others are in their late 20s.

Cousy
Menasha's Jim Kersten has authored one feat this season that will be hard to top. The Marquette senior center turned four of his seven baskets against Illinois into 3-point plays. It happened on the night Kersten hit his career high of 25 points.

Only four of the 16 major league clubs had better farm system records in 1959 than Baltimore—the Fox Cities Foxes' new affiliate. All six of Boston's farm clubs finished in the first division. Next came the Phils, with seven of eight clubs achieving high finishes; the Cards, 9-for-12; and the Yanks, 6-for-8. The Orioles and Detroit each boasted five first-division club teams in a 7-club system. Washington—the Foxes' former parent—had the poorest record of any American league team, with only two of seven first division clubs, one of which was Fox Cities. San Francisco had the worst record in the National league, with only one of nine affiliates making it to the upper strata.

For the second straight year, the 3-1 league's player limit will be one higher. The new limit—approved during the recent minor league meeting—is 19. What makes it all "gravy" for league teams is that the entire bill for the extra player's expenses will be paid by the major league affiliate.

Forty-two cities have had franchises in various professional football leagues in the USA at one time or another.

Packers Sign Halfback Paul Winslow

Green Bay—A—The Green Bay Packers today announced the signing of halfback Paul Winslow of North Carolina college for the 1960 National Football league season.

Winslow, a 210-pounder who was the Packers' thirteenth draft choice, was switched from end to halfback in his senior year last fall. He averaged 41 yards per carry on 90 rushes and caught five passes.

Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi said that Coach Herman Riddick of North Carolina college described Winslow as "the best back he has ever seen."

Wynn Becomes Highest-Paid Chisox Pitcher

Chicago—A—Early Wynn, who led the major leagues in victories last year with 22 for the Chicago White Sox, signed his 1960 contract Wednesday for an estimated $45,000, making him the highest paid pitcher in the club's history.

Wynn, 40, reportedly received nearly $40,000 last year when he led the Sox to their first pennant in 40 years.

Cornell '5' Drops Lawrence, 79-67

Merz Scores 22, Altenberg 18 For Rams; Knocke Leads Vikes

Mt. Vernon, Iowa — The Cornell Rams handed Lawrence college's basketball team a 79-67 loss here Wednesday night.

All - Midwest conference stars Rich Merz and Ron Altenberg scored 22 and 18 points, respectively, as the Rams scored their seventh win in 11 league games.

Breaks Early Tie
Cornell broke an early 4-4 tie and stayed ahead the rest of the way in dealing Lawrence its eighth loss in 11 MC games.

The Rams led, 37-28, at the half and spurred ahead by 23 (70-47) with six minutes left in the game.

The game was raggedly played, and both teams had rather low shooting averages — 36 per cent for the Vikes and 35 per cent for Cornell.

Lawrence had an exceptionally good night from the foul line, hitting 21 of 26 free throws. Cornell made 13 of 22.

"Chuck" Knocke led the Vikes with 15 points, and Jim Jordan added 13. Jim Rasmussen scored 12 and was the Vikes' best rebounder, with an unofficial 10 grabs.

Cornell had the rebounding edge, especially in the first half.

The Papermakers, beaten only by Sheboygan Central, advanced from fifth to fourth spot when Central lost twice and dropped into the special mention category, from third place. The rankings are compiled by the WIAA state tournament publicity committee.

Appleton High school's most important home game of the 1959-60 season to date (AHS vs. Sheboygan Central Friday night) will provide answers to these questions:

1. Can the Terrors retain their recent mastery over the Redmen?

2. Can AHS jell into the devastating team it has at times given promise of becoming?

3. Can Central shake off the effects of its "lost weekend"?

The co-runners go into the 8:15 p.m. game one lap behind Green Bay West, the Fox River Valley conference pace-setter. The other Friday battle which should help clear the title-race fog is the Fond du Lac-at-West game.

Unless Fondy confounds the experts again and slips the Wildcats a hardcourt "mick-ey," the AHS-Central loser will find itself in a most uncomfortable spot—two large lengths behind — going into second-round play.

5 of Last 6

Besides the home court, the Terrors will have precedent going for them in this "must" contest. AHS has beaten Central five times in their last six meetings (including a pair last season over the Redmen's state tourney team). In all, AHS' Dick Emanuel has an 8-4 coaching edge over Carl Huebner, dean of FRVC leaders.

After losing a triple-overtime, season - opening scorcher to Kimberly, the Tall Terrors fashioned a 4-game winning streak and gave promise of becoming a red-hot unit.

Since then, however, they have lost three of five games, beating only also-rans Sheboygan North and Green Bay East.

Plays Full Game

Most everyone seems agreed that the AHS quint still has the potential to go places, and, one of these nights, it might "blast off." The once-sidelined John Nussbaum played his first complete ball game of the season

'60 Ticket Prices Unchanged

Foxes' Third Banquet Slated for April 21

The Fox Cities Baseball club's board of directors decided Wednesday night to hold the line on 1960 ticket prices and to sponsor the Foxes' third annual pre-season baseball banquet.

Season ticket prices will again be $55 for reserved grandstand seats; $40 for unreserved grandstand; and $30 for bleachers. Individual game prices remain at 90 cents for grandstand, 65 cents for bleacher, 35 cents for students and 25 cents for children (through the age of 12).

Two changes have been made in book tickets. They will be sold in blocks of 14—$10 for adult grandstand and $7 for adult bleachers.

For the first time, 15-game books will be sold to students and children, $4 and $3, respectively.

Opening-game booster buttons will also be sold again, the board decided.

The banquet will be held Thursday night, April 21, in the Appleton Elks club. The 1960 Foxes and Manager Earl Weaver will be introduced. The name of the principal speaker will be announced later.

The directors also are contacting Weaver in hopes of bringing him here for a pre-spring training visit.

Club President Ray McCrone set up 21 committees for 1960, with each director represented on at least one unit.

By Jimmy Hettie

Golden Age Home residents, New London, were overwhelmed Wednesday when their baseball idol, Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee Braves slugger, stopped at the home for a visit. Left to right are John Croak, 85; Eddie Mathews, Tom Hincky, 81; Dr. John W. Monsted who arranged for the visit; and Vernon Stannard, superintendent of the home.

Pitching Better, Too

Lopez Rates White Sox Offense 30 Per Cent Stronger This Year

Manager Chicago White Sox

Tampa, Fla. — (AP) — I feel definitely we have strengthened the Chicago White Sox with our winter deals.

As I look at it we have increased our offense by some 30 per cent and did so without sacrificing any of our defense. By adding "Minnie" Minoso and Gene Freese we have two men who hit a total of 180 runs. Our entire team drove in 620 runs in winning the American league pennant last year.

True, we had to give up some talent to add Minoso, Freese and company, but we gave up "futures" who did not figure too greatly in our 1960 plans. The only regular we parted with was "Bubba" Phillips and we replaced him at third with Freese. The latter will do a good job defensively and we always have Billy Goodman and Sam Esposito to fill when needed.

Far Superior

I believe Minoso, Jim Landis and Al Smith will be far superior to any outfielder we were able to field in 1959. Our pitching will be even better in 1960. We have added left-handers Frank Baumann, Don Ferrarese and "Jake" Striker and right-hander Mike Garcia, as well as a number of outstanding farm hands. The most promising of the farm hands appears to be Ed Hobaugh, a young right-hander who had a fine season at Indianapolis.

Our starting staff is headed by Early Wynn and Bob Shaw and includes Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Barry Latman. Add our bullpen twins Gerry Staley and Turk Lown and we have an even more impressive pitching staff than last year.

Wynn's Determined

It's difficult to predict that Wynn, who will be 40 years old, will duplicate his 22 victories of 1959. Knowing his talent and determination, however, I wouldn't bet against it. Shaw should be even better than his 18-6 record of last year and could very well be the best pitcher in the league. Latman also should be a bigger winner with a full season of major league pitching under his belt. Two youngsters who came up last year, Ken McBride and Joe Stanka, may also be heard from.

I can't say enough about my "down-the-middle" boys. It used to give me a wonderful feeling whenever I'd go out on the field at the start of the game and see Sherm Lollar behind the plate, Nellie Fox and Luis Aparicio around second base and Landis in center field.

Last year I said we could win the pennant. The players bore out my belief with a great season. I feel we are considerably stronger and see not only a White Sox first-place finish, but also a World Series flag flying over Comiskey park by mid-October.

Manchester, N. H. — (AP) — Pride and youth could well bring the American league pennant back to New York this year according to Manager Casey Stengel.

"The Yankees are going to come back because they are too young to fold," Stengel said Wednesday night at the 12th annual Union Leader Baseball dinner. "Not counting the manager, the average age of the players is 26.1. Those many pennants flying over the park are a reminder. Once you blow a pennant after a string of them you have lost your honor. I have an idea the club will be out to fix that."

Art Reichelt posted a 502 for Interlake in Hahn's Industrial circuit. Gus Richter slapped a 245 for first place Knoke's (42-15) and finished with a 557.

NBA Definitely Won't Okay Jordan-Basilio Fight for Title

Providence, R.I. — (AP) — Anthony Macaroni, president of the National Boxing association, says his group has no intention of changing its stand in refusing to sanction a proposed welterweight title fight between champion Don Jordan and former champion Carmen Basilio.

Further, Jordan must defend against one of the top four contenders in the NBA's list of challengers "in a very short time" or the group will declare the title vacant, Macaroni said Wednesday night.

The situation came to a head Tuesday night when Macaroni announced the NBA would strip Jordan of his title if he goes through with a proposed title fight with Basilio.

"Our executive committee passed a resolution Dec. 12 that Jordan must defend against one of the four top-rated welterweights," Macaroni said. "At that time Basilio was No. 3 in the middles (and had no ranking as a welterweight). He has been out of the welterweight division about two years."

The top four challengers listed by the NBA are Luis Rodriguez of Cuba, Rudy Stutch of Louisville, Frederico Thompson of Argentina and Charlie Scott of Philadelphia. Stutch is sidelined with an eye cataract.

Terrors Meet Central Quint

at Oshkosh last Saturday, and before long, his steady influence could help weld the Terrors into a more formidable striking force.

Central will also be fortified by a flock of victory motives. Going into last weekend's double round, the Redmen had a spotless FRVC record, were rated No. 3 in the state and were called "best team I've seen" by a number of qualified observers. Fond du Lac and West changed all that with a pair of jolts to their proud record.

Both losses, however, were close (61-57 in overtime to Fondy and 58-54 to West), indicating there's no reason for Terror fans to believe the Redmen have fallen apart.

Besides, Central still owns the highest scoring average (66.7 points) in the conference and is the only team to defeat Mid-Eastern conference-leading Kimberly (68-66).

The Redmen, who have a 6-3 overall interscholastic record (compared to AHS' 6-4), lost both FRVC games at the free throw line. They outscored both Fondy and West from the floor. Indicative of Central's comebacking prowess was its erasure of an 18-point, third quarter Fondy lead to send the game into overtime.

While the Terrors don't figure to run into any 1-man gang (a la Gene England, Jr., and Paul Meany, the league's 1-2 scorers), their defensive job will be just as tough Friday. Central, boasting three of the FRVC's top 10 scorers, has better balance than any other club.

Averages 14 Points

"Bud" Wright, a greatly-improved 6-4 center, is averaging 14 points a conference game. The 6-1 Tom Posewitz, an outstanding competitor, is averaging 12.7. And, 6-2 Howie Schneider, the top contributor of last season's junior varsity team, is scoring at 11.5.

The Terrors' top conference scoring trio comprises Ron Abel (third high in the league), with 16.8 points; John Nussbaum, 10.7; and Paul Vander Heyden, 7.3.

Central has averaged a cool 10 points per conference game more than the Terrors' 55.7. AHS, however, has been tougher to score against, with a 49-point defensive rate compared to Central's 57.5.

Probable Central starters, besides Posewitz, Wright and Schneider, are Dan Davies and Gary Azukas, a pair of experienced campaigners.

Starting alongside Abel, Vander Heyden and Nussbaum for AHS will be Dave LaViolette and Marty Schultz.

Kojis Realizes Boyhood Dream By Playing on Marquette Quintet

Junior Leads Club in Rebounds And Scoring

Milwaukee — (AP) — A kid who realized a boyhood dream to play basketball for Marquette has developed into a topflight star for the Warriors.

McHale Doesn't Expect Trouble Signing 'Red'

Milwaukee — (AP) — John McHale, general manager of the Milwaukee Braves, does not anticipate any trouble coming to terms with "Red" Schoendienst, the veteran second baseman who was out most of the 1959 season with tuberculosis.

"We all want 'Red' to play," McHale said Wednesday night after being told that the 37-year-old infielder declared he had returned his 1960 contract sent to him by the Milwaukee National league baseball club.

"We have to recognize, however," McHale said, "that 'Red' may not be able to play. It is difficult to write a contract in 'Red's' case, but I don't think we'll have any trouble coming to terms."

Red insisted that he would be able to play 100 games or more for Milwaukee this year.

grew up in the shadows of Marquette, is the big gun both in scoring and on defense for the Warriors, who posted a 9-4 record before a mid-season break for exams.

"He does everything well," said Ed Hickey. "The kid has all the tools for becoming a truly great player."

Moved into the pivot to replace the graduated Mike Moran, Kojis has improved his shooting eye and is deadly in close. He has scored 287 points, an average of 22.1 a game, and threatens the record of 528 by Moran a year ago.

Although he has to give away inches to opponents often, Kojis has a spring-like jump and is one of the nation's top rebounders. A rugged 200-pounder, he has snared 206 rebounds to lead the club.

Kojis didn't have any trouble making a decision on which college to choose although he had plenty of scholarship offers after winning all-state honors at Milwaukee's Notre Dame High.

"I always dreamed of playing for Marquette," he explained. "I get a thrill every time I put on the uniform." After leading the freshman team in scoring, Kojis moved up to a starting position on the varsity last year, Hickey's first at Marquette.

Hickey, a veteran of more than 20 years as a coach, was amazed by the play of Kojis and called him "the finest sophomore I have ever coached."

Kojis scored 403 points and grabbed 376 rebounds in helping the Warriors to a 23-6 record and a berth in the NCAA Midwest Regional finals.

Kojis is just as adept in the classroom as on the basketball floor. He finished second scholastically in his high school graduating class and ranks high when it comes to the books at Marquette.

Don hopes to take a shot at pro basketball after graduation. But his biggest ambition and goal is to become a dentist. Kojis' career could rival that of Jack Nichols, former star with the Boston Celtics who earned his dental degree between National Basketball association games.

Villanova Coach Gives East Edge In Pro 'Star Tilt

Philadelphia — (U) — "They are all great scorers. They'll shoot the eyes out of you."

Al Severance, veteran basketball coach of eighth-ranked Villanova, sat back and gave a neutral observer's viewpoint of the National Basketball association All-Star game which will be played here Friday night.

Philadelphia — (U) — The National Basketball Association today called on Len Corborsiero to present proposals for a franchise for the Los Angeles Jets.

If approved it could mean two NBA clubs for the West coast since owner Bob Short of the Minneapolis Lakers might attempt to move his franchise to San Francisco or Los Angeles if the club doesn't come out of the red financially.

defeated Cincinnati, 119-108. Wednesday night Royals' general manager "Pep" Wilson said he planned to make verbal protest at the meeting about the caliber of officiating.

Incompetent Officials

"This is another game the Royals had taken away from them by grossly incompetent officiating. We have been putting up with it all year. In this league the officials call a foul and then say they didn't see it."

Mathews voiced opposition to moving a fielder to the infield. He maintained that when a player establishes himself in a certain position he should hold that position.

He also mentioned that batting averages can be hurt by moving a good outfielder to an infield position.

Who is the most exciting player in baseball? If you've seen the current issue of the Sporting News you know Willie Mays has been voted the honor for the third straight year. Willie edged out Luis Aparicio. The biggest attribute they have in common is base-stealing artistry—and that quality invariably catches the public fancy. "Little Looney" stole 58 out of 69 attempts last season, while Mays succeeded in 27 of 31 theft tries.

Lee MacPhail, Baltimore's new president, was Yankee farm director at the time the Fond du Lac club of the Wisconsin State League was affiliated with New York Yankees.

Villanova Bounces Back, 94-65, Over Seton Hall Team

By The Associated Press

That Villanova club is for real just as Coach Fred Schaus of West Virginia said last week when his Mountaineers knocked it from the unbeaten.

"Villanova is the only team I've seen yet to be in a class with California," Schaus said. Cal handed the Mountaineers a 94-65 thrashing.

The Xavier High school junior varsity basketball team rolled to its tenth victory in 11 starts Wednesday night at Winnebago Lutheran, Fond du Lac, 66-20.

Guards "Kip" Whittlinger and Bob Rammer counted 15 and 13 points, respectively, for Xavier. Jeffers tallied 14 for the losers who were behind, 18-5, at the end of the first quarter and outscored heavily in each stanza.

But Severance said he would give the East a slide edge over the West in the tenth annual classic.

His reason:

"Any team with two men like Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell must have a good defensive pattern. The team that gets the boards should or usually should win, all other things being equal."

At the same time league owners at their annual meeting prepared to delve into the problems presented by the admission of Chicago and to set up a playoff schedule and select a date for the player draft.

Also on the agenda is the caliber of officiating in the league.

Wilson did not name any officials or elaborate any further.

Short said his Lakers are drawing only half as many fans per game, about 2,500, as the Bulls.

Mathews stressed that money is the main factor for players to continue to seek back their positions. He claimed that while many of the players have sidelines and cited a number of examples, he said their main source of income is from endorsements.

MacPhail

George Trautmann, said in a recent radio interview that the strength of the minor leagues is at the B-C-D level.

The Wildcats didn't show any signs of a letdown after the West Virginia defeat as they smothered a good Seton Hall five Wednesday night.

Top 2 rebounders

In the 7-1 rookie Chamberlain of Philadelphia and 6-10 Russell of Boston, the East has the No. 1 and 2 rebounders in the league.

"Of course," added Severance, "you can't discount the West's ability to kill you with Bob Pettit, Elgin Baylor and Macaulay of St. Louis, will be Pettit and Jack Twyman of Cincinnati at the forwards, 7-foot Walt Dukes of Detroit at center and Gene Shue, also of Detroit, and Dick Garmaker of Minneapolis at the guards."

After the St. Louis Hawks are needed to break even. He has rescheduled three of his home games to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington.

In relation to other matters NBA President Podoloff said present plans are to staff the Chicago team with players from a pool.

He explained that when he pointed out that once a player is established, he has to produce or endangers his livelihood. He said that lack of competition for a position does not insure a player that he will continue to hold his rating on the team.

Lawrence cager Jim Rasmussen has joined the "contact lenses" club. "Ras" has had good success with them except for one "fall-out"—in the St. Olaf game.

It was another light college basketball schedule with only a handful of major games, two of which resulted in upsets.

The East's starting lineup will have Paul Arizin of Philadelphia and Dolph Schayes of Syracuse at forwards, Chamberlain at center and Bob Cousy of Boston and Richie Guerin of New York at the guards. Guard "Red" Auerbach of the world champion Celtics will guide the East.

Davenport, Kirkland Sign 1960 Contracts

San Francisco—Jimmy Davenport, one of the finest fielding third basemen in baseball, and Willie Kirkland, a slugging outfielder, today signed 1960 contracts with the San Francisco Giants. Both were believed to have received increases — Davenport to about $17,500 and Kirkland to about $13,500.

Each of the other eight 1959 club would put three players into the pool, from which Western division Chicago could choose a maximum of one from each team.

Chicago, headed by Max Winter, formerly of the Lakers, would get the rest of its personnel from the draft or on its own. The new entry will be active in the 1960-61 season. It was admitted last September.

Mathews said that every team needs four top pitchers and that Milwaukee had two, Spahn and Burdette.

When asked about his hitting, Mathews said he likes a waist-high fast ball. He said he doesn't like left handed twirlers and that the success joined the team after high school, he was told, on his first day at practice, who the starting players would be for the season.

Miami Beach, Fla. — (AP) —
 There were renewed reports

Alderman Questions, Votes 'No' On Trip to Counties' Road School

Attendance of 14 city officials at the winter Wisconsin Road School Jan. 26, 27 and 28 at Milwaukee was approved Wednesday by the city council, with only Ald. Mrs. Stillings opposed.

Ald. Malmstrom was temporarily absent during the voting and Aldermen Prieb and Stumpf were excused absentees.

"It may be that $1,000 more or less, spent out of $6 million, to send city officials to a highway conference meant for county officials is not very important, but it raises in my mind a question of how tax money and reasons can be found for a useless convention, but money and reasons cannot be found to give our city employees their pay raises all at the same time," said Mrs. Stillings.

City councilmen last year passed up the annual trip after budgetmakers agreed with Appleton Taxpayers association that such trips could be cut in the face of a tax increase.

Authorized to attend this year are all members of the board of public works and street and sanitation committee, the street superintendent and the sanitation superintendent.

Each will receive $25 a day plus 8 cents a mile travel allowance.

Zone Change

After questions by Ald. Mrs. Stillings, it was decided to include setback restrictions in a zone change for Conrad Grishaber in the ordinance amendment which will permit the change.

Grishaber wants to remodel his store and garage at E. South River street and John street and is willing to keep track 10 to 15 feet from the existing curved sidewalk.

A public hearing will be called.

Supermarket Plea

Jerome K. Rath withdrew the request to rezone part of the block between Harriet and Gunn streets, north of Walter avenue, a permit construction of a supermarket.

Withdrawal came in the face of impending council denial, upon recommendation of the city planning commission.

Planners refused rezoning, from 2-family to commercial and light manufacturing district, after it became apparent there is a legal question whether Rath or Nygren Realtors has the right to exercise an option on two lots the owner of which objected to the rezoning.

Old Procedures

Ald. Tucker congratulated the finance committee for recommending return to old procedures in handling requests for employee pay increases.

"This vividly points up that a minority report will carry if it has merit," said Tucker.

Two weeks ago he, Ald. Mrs. Stillings and Ald. Malmstrom were critical of bypassing of council committees with jurisdiction over the various departments, but nothing was done, he said.

The practice of having department heads go directly to the finance committee with pay hike pleas was treated with hostility from late December when the first pay increases for the police department were recommended by the finance committee without consulting the public safety committee, which previously had jurisdiction.

Solve Dilemma

The council approved the street committee's solution to Elmer Bleck's dilemma involving an unusable lot.

Ordinances were ordered amended to relocate the setback line designed to hold land for a future alley along the south line of Bleck's lot between Superior and Clark streets, south of Wisconsin avenue.

The setback line will be moved to the south 20 feet of the first 148.97 feet south of Wisconsin avenue. It was the south 20 feet of the first 120 feet, thus providing for an alley which would knife through Bleck's lot.

Projects Approved

Sanitary sewer, water main and grading and graveling were scheduled for the coming summer season on Outagamie street, Taylor to Glendale; Gillett street, Taylor to Glendale; Nicholas street, from the present end of the street north to Glendale; Douglas street, from the present end of the street north to Glendale; Glendale avenue, Outagamie to Eugene, and Eugene street, Glendale north to a point in line with the sewage lift station and then east to the lift station.

Curb, gutter, grading and graveling were scheduled for Grant street, Graceland to McDonald; and Brewster to the east-west alley between Superior and Appleton streets, north of College avenue, by Wisconsin Telephone company. The company is building an addition. The footings will be some 80 feet below alley surface and 2.2 feet into the alley.

Budget Transfers

A total of $20,842.75 was ordered transferred from general fund surplus to six budget accounts which were over-spent last year.

The accounts and the amounts: City assessor, $156.43; city attorney, $81.17; snow and ice control, $13,707.07; equipment repairs and maintenance, $1,507.42; swimming pool, $1,377.31; and municipal retirement, $4,013.35.

Tax Return Scrutiny

Ald. Pointer inquired and was told by City Clerk Broehm and Ald. Bogan, finance committee chairman, that cost of examining income tax returns, both to develop claims and to answer claims of allocation made to the wrong municipality by the state, will be the same as previously in the new contract recommended for Becker, Okada and company. The fee will be one third of all final refunds or reductions resulting from the company's work.

Praises Police

Ald. Tucker praised the annual report of the police department. He alluded particularly to these remarks in the report by Chief Hendricks:

"We are happy to report that crime in Appleton is far below any other city of comparable size, and has not increased in accordance with the pattern set throughout the country."

"An effort has been made over the past year to improve the police service, to make it more efficient, more courteous and as economical as is possible in work of this nature."

"The figures to be found in the succeeding pages, when compared to the federal bureau of investigation crime reports, indicate that Appleton again holds a high place in police enforcement, showing a high degree of apprehensions and convictions when compared to other cities our size."

Miscellaneous

The council also approved: 1. Forwarding of purchase of 63.50 acres more for the industrial development park to the finance committee to work out financing terms. Cost: $103,560, plus interest charges.

2. Rejection of the lease offer from Appleton Machine company.

3. Award of $260,000 in general obligation bonds to First National Bank of Appleton, the only bidder. Cost: $29,419 for five years, or 3.22 net effective interest.

4. Pay increases for nine city employees; denial of one for another.

5. Plans and specifications for sewer and water mains to serve the University of Wisconsin extension center.

6. Preparation of plans and specifications to complete installation of new street lights on the off-College avenue downtown streets.

Question Youth About Enticing Boy to Washroom

Appleton police today are questioning a 20-year-old rural Kaukauna youth who has admitted enticing a 9-year-old Appleton boy into a washroom in the basement of St. Therese Catholic church Wednesday morning.

The boy told police the youth had asked to be shown the washroom and, he said, placed a stick under the door knob when they were both inside. The 20-year-old denied he attempted to molest the child.

Two women who came upon the child crying in the church went outside the washroom and waited for the youth to come out. They asked him for his identification and he showed them an I.D. card. Police later traced him to his home where he was arrested. The youth was arrested in 1936 for taking indecent liberties with a minor.

Rating Troubles 'Startime' Series

Hollywood Columnist Reports Sponsor
Ready to Spend $20 Million to Bolster

BY JINGO
The "Startime" series of Tuesday night television specials is in serious rating troubles, but may be saved by the unflagging effort of its automobile company sponsor.
Mike Connolly, Hollywood columnist, reports the sponsor is pitching for the biggest names in Hollywood to take over production reins. He mentions Samuel Goldwyn, Frank Capra, Dore Schary and David O. Selznick.
The sponsor also has asked Gary Cooper and Cary Grant to act as hosts for the show, Connolly says.
And, reports Mike, the sponsor isn't fooling around. He's got some $20 million to spend.

Jingo

Speaking of ailing series, it's reported that the mail barrage calling for reinstatement of "Five Fingers," the Saturday night intrigue series, may force the network to schedule it elsewhere in the night-time slot.

There are only two good reasons why the series failed to draw flies: "Gun-smoke" and "Have Gun-Will Travel" right across the channels. The show itself had much better quality of scripts than most others which reportedly are healthy."

Same subject. The reprise given "Riverboat," the ambitious Sunday night hour-long effort that bowed this year, probably means the end of "Love and Marriage" when the switch comes Feb. 1. The other Monday night show into whose time "Riverboat" will go — "Richard Diamond"—undoubtedly will be placed elsewhere in the network's schedule.

Jingo Lingo: Remember the 15-minute Eddie Fisher shows. Same sponsor has asked Connie Francis, teen set pet, to resume them... Likeliest candidate for poorest single story of any continuing TV series this season: The Tuesday night "Phillip Marlowe" farce. Worst dialogue Jingo can recall. And that includes the early "Martin Kane, Private Eye" stories.

The series of six hour dramatic shows entitled "Manhattan," which reportedly was to start Feb. 26 on CBS-TV, will start Feb. 12. First story is about an intolerant young writer and his literary relationship with an alcoholic ex-actress. Albert McCleery, boss of the lately departed "Matinee Theater," is the producer. Neal Hefti has signed as orchestra leader and Harry Simeone as choral director of "The Kate Smith Show," which debuts Monday at 6:30 p.m. on CBS-TV.

President Eisenhower has named ABC-TV Newsman John Daly to be one of the chief advisors to the surgeon general of the federal health service in carrying out the federal water pollution control program... Rocky Graziano and Jane Romano, standby for Ethel Merman in the Broadway hit, "Gypsy," will be the special guests for "Be Our Guest," the new George DeWitt show premiering next Wednesday night on CBS-TV.

Paul Ford Leaves
'Music Man' for
New Production
New York — Paul Ford, who often portrays a married army officer, pompous senator or vexed political lack is set for a production that will have him play six different roles.
This is in "A Thurbur Carnival," which is described as an entertainment derived from the various works of James Thurbur.
Burgess Meredith is directing the Carnival which will have a showing in Thurbur's home town of Columbus, Ohio, before arriving on Broadway in February.

Woman Carries on
1-Person Production
West Orange, N.J. — Nine years after her entertainment group disbanded, Jean Rapicano is still carrying on with a 1-woman marionette show to entertain shut-in children.
"When money is spent, it's gone for good," she says, "but the satisfaction I get from entertaining those people will stay with me all ways."

College Starts
Producer on Way
New York — A movie that Joe Manchester wrote in college is enabling him to become a Broadway stage producer.
Manchester, 27, is one of the three sponsors of "The Deadly Game," a drama based upon a Friedrich Durrenmatt novel which is due here in February. Claude Dauphin and Pat Hingle are co-stars.
While studying playwriting at Carnegie Tech, Manchester came up with a script for a film, "Weekend in Connecticut."
"Then I advertised the movie by saying 'See yourself, your friends and your town in the movies,'" he says. "I made a nice profit, which enabled me to option the Durrenmatt work."

"The Mighty Midget"

Faculty Coaches Named for KHS Forensic Competition

Kaukauna — Coaches for various forensic divisions have been announced at Kaukauna High school by Miss Barbara Little, chairman, while meetings have been held with students to acquaint them with various phases of forensics.

Students became acquainted with speaking in various brackets and were advised to consider the one most appealing or suitable to them prior to registering for participation. Concentration on one event will enable a student to do a good job in one field rather than an average or poor job in several, according to Miss Little.

Coaching Topics
Miss Little will have charge of play reading and together with Mrs. Howard Sprenger, Mrs. Kathleen Davis and Miss Bette Zander will coach memorized declamation. Coaching interpretive reading will be Miss Mary L. Finn and extemporaneous reading will be coached by Mrs. R. J. DeLoria.

Francis DeBruin will serve as coach in original oratory and extemporaneous speaking while Dallas Werner will supervise students in non-original oratory.

Bruce Warner will handle extra students in the latter categories. Some adjustments in coaching assignments may be necessitated pending the number of students participating in respective events.

Applicants must file with Fred Barribeau, science instructor in charge of the trip. A committee of six teachers will review applications and select eight boys to make the trip. The Thilmany Pulp and Paper company cooperates in financing the trip.

Selection for participation at the conservation course is based on classroom work in biology, science and courses related to conservation, by their citizenship in and out of school and by the quality of the written application.

Upon returning to school the boys pass on to others some of the things learned about the state's natural resources, according to Barribeau. Faculty members supervising the April 17 through 20 trip will be Fred Stassel, general science teacher, and Dallas Werner, physics teacher.

State Highway Safety to Get Evaluation

Governor Requests Insurance Institute To Make Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Gov. Gaylord Nelson and members of his coordinating committee on highway safety have asked the insurance institute for highway safety to evaluate the general highway safety program in the state.

The hope is for assistance in preparing an over-all revision of the public road safety campaign and machinery.

The IHS is sponsored by 532 major casualty insurance companies and has said it is prepared to provide technical staff help for such work in about six states. One or two states will be chosen for full-scale pilot highway safety programs, with staff and financial help from the underwriters' organization, it was explained.

The work will be undertaken with the help of state officials in the safety field and the leaders of the Wisconsin Council of Safety, which has broadened its scope to include road problems as well as matters of industrial safety.

Walter Lindeman of Janesville is president of the council, and has pledged its aid in completing the Wisconsin study.

Russell I. Brown, president of the insurance organization and former director of safety in the state of Iowa, explained that the state would benefit from the preliminary studies, even if it is not finally chosen for the intensive pilot program.

Beet Growers Walk Out of Meeting

Chilton — Sugar beet growers walked out in the middle of a discussion which might have assured them of no financial losses for future crop disasters during the Wisconsin Sugar Beet Growers association state meeting here Wednesday.

Growers had argued the feasibility of establishing disaster or abandonment payments for crops lost. When no agreement was reached one man called, "Let's go home." The growers followed him out in the middle of the discussion.

Trust Fund
The proposed plan would have given the grower a maximum of $30 an acre should his crop be unharvested through no fault of his own. This, coupled with federal payments, would approach $40 per acre.

Money for the payment would come from a trust with each grower contributing $1 more than 30 minutes to dump

Delegates argued such a fund would penalize good growers in favor of poor growers who always lose some portion of a crop.

"It doesn't help to close the barn door after the horses are gone," A. A. Zurbach, a Lake Mills delegate, said. He objected to the plan because it was brought up only after a loss.

Refuses Motion
Others questioned how crops could be policed to determine whether losses were from wind, rain, rot or freeze.

Delegates decided if the disaster plan would be adopted it would be voluntary. This is the second time in nine years such a plan has been left dangling.

Henry Heimann, association president, refused to honor a motion which ordered directors to obtain new dumping regulations from the sugar company.

a beet load. After this elapsed time drivers should be paid $2 an hour by the company for waiting, he said.

Walter Page, president of the Menominee Sugar Beet Refinery, Green Bay, refused to bargain with growers on this point.

"This price is an impossibility. Such a motion would make it impossible for the company to contract for beets," he said.

Must Accept Beets
The company must accept beets from the Wisconsin growers because it can use only state beets and some Illinois beets to meet its production quotas.

Zurbach, changed his motion and asked that the directors attempt to gain better dumping facilities. Growers contend a great portion of the 1,800 acres of beets was lost because trucks were not able to return on schedule to waiting diggers.

Both Page and Heimann asked growers not to cease growing beets or cut down acreage because of the loss.

Worst Year

"You all know last year was the worst year we experienced since 1851 when 45 per cent of the beets were lost, almost wrecking the sugar beet industry in the state," Heimann said. "We've got to take the good with the bad," he said. The 1959 loss represented nearly $54,000 to the growers.

Traffic Tie-Ups Can Be Avoided in Winter

Traffic tie-ups on snow or ice-covered streets and roads cause delays for many thousands of motorists each year, points out the Wisconsin motor vehicle department. Many of these delays could be avoided if all drivers would make sure their cars

POST CRESCENT News of the Twin Cities Menasha - Neenah

Alderman Urges Annexing K-C Office, Plant

Mayor Answers Critics on Services to Lakeview Mill

Neenah — Annexation of the Kimberly-Clark main office and Lakeview mill area, as well as the Courtney court and Plummer court area, was proposed to the council Wednesday night by Ald. Carl Coenen.

Coenen

His motion to waive the $300 per acre annexation fee for areas with improved streets and already connected to the sewerage system was tabled though on motion by Ald. James Dinius. The tabling was approved without dissent.

Coenen said he thought some recognition should be given to remarks presented by Frank Hochholzer and Gilbert Krueger, both former aldermen, in letters to the newspapers on this subject.

"If I remember correctly, Kimberly-Clark corporation has been prominent in building towns or at least the greater part of these towns near their newer mills. All we would be doing is asking them to join our city," Coenen declared.

"I realize that Kimberly-Clark has done much for our city, but our city has also made many things available to the Lakeview mill. We supply them with water, fire protection and our sewerage system."

Cites Change in Law
City Atty. Charles Schaller cited the change in the annexation law made by the 1959 legislature and that while the city can initiate annexation, the residents or property owners in the district can ask for a referendum to either approve or reject the annexation.

Ald. Peter Fara thought the council was jumping into the board of review. In 1949, it was valued for tax purposes at $45,000. The assessment remained until 1957, when it was dropped to $40,000 by the board.

The first major step in downtown renewal of Menasha was taken last summer, when Mrs. Arnold Cane ordered remodeling of an old store building at 161 Main street. Independent TV and Appliance service has leased the remodeled building.

something and said he was not prepared to vote on any move for annexation. He asked for further study of the idea. Dinius then moved to table the motion, instructing the city attorney to prepare an ordinance waiving the annexation fee in these cases.

Mayor Bell said it was possible under proper representation that Kimberly-Clark might elect to come into the city.

"I say it is possible but do not represent any likelihood of it," he stressed.

"There has been considerable confusion and loose talk about the service Kimberly-

School Board Member Drops From Contest

Mrs. Tollette Takes

Of Mrs. H. R. Moore

Neenah — Mrs. Marian Tollette, school board member for the last six years, this morning dropped out of the race with a new school board.

Mrs. Tollette is the wife of H. R. Moore, administrative vice president of Bergstrom Paper company and a member of the county board.

In announcing her withdrawal from the race, Mrs. Tollette, the first elected woman school commissioner for Neenah, said, "Since my children have graduated from the public school system, I have found it increasingly difficult to be in the city at times when work in behalf of the board of education was necessary."

Served Since 1954
"Therefore I feel bound to decline the nomination for a third term as commissioner." She has served since 1954 on the school board and has been its secretary.

Seeking the two school board posts at the April 5 election are Frank X. Hochholzer, vice chairman of the

More Land Needed to Build at State College

Biggest School, Oshkosh, Most Hemmed
In of All, State Planner Tells Regents

Madison — A state engineering official Wednesday told the board of regents of state colleges that considerable land acquisition will be needed to enlarge the campus of the State College at Oshkosh during the next decade.

Henry Ford, state director of planning, described the campus of the biggest state college as the most hemmed in of the state college system, and said new space will be relatively expensive because it is now occupied by good residential buildings.

Outline Acquisitions
But Ford outlined potential acquisitions that would make room for the construction of at least eight new campus buildings and permit ultimate expansion of enrollment to about 4,000. The school now has about 2,000 students.

In other actions, the board approved a request to a federal financing agency for the construction of two new dormitories for students on the Oshkosh campus during the next two years with a capacity of 500 and preliminary plans for the construction of a new college library that is already financed.

Discussions turned up a dispute between the college administration and Ford on the proper location for the library Ford held out for a site on Algoma boulevard. The college management wants the corner of Elmwood and College streets.

Hold Costs Down
The planning expert also told the regents that the land costs at Oshkosh could be held down by building new structures taller. He warned that some new parcels will be required.

He said new dormitories should be built on the present athletic field, north of the campus, and that new land should be bought for athletics.

Roger Guiles, college president, said there has been some complaint from townspeople about parking problems at the college, but he said he expects to work out the matter.

Dog Licenses Ready
From City Treasurer
Neenah — Dog licenses may be obtained now at the office of City Treasurer Walter H. Loehning, he announced today. The fee is $1 for male or spayed female and $2 for female dogs. After Jan. 31 the licenses are to be obtained at the police station.

Neenah to Hire Engineer Firm For Sewer Study

Contract With Consultants Being Prepared; Plan Post Card Survey

Neenah — A consulting engineering firm for an exhaustive survey of the city's sewer system has been agreed upon by the public works committee and contracts are now being prepared, Mayor S. Bell informed the council Wednesday night.

This firm specializes in sewer and water main studies and has done work for Green Bay, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. Interviews were held with two engineering firms, he mentioned.

Ald. Warren Sanders felt the council should not wait for the completion of the study but should take some simple steps immediately as corrective measures to prevent or lessen the flooding and sanitary sewer backups.

The street and sanitation committee was instructed, on motion by Ald. Ewald Miller, to study and combine various proposed ordinances dealing with downspouts, sump pumps, and prohibiting basements in areas with a high water table into the building code.

Post Card Survey
Wayne G. Bryan, public works director, said some homes have had backups for several years but have never reported them to city officials. A postcard survey is being planned of all who receive water bills.

They will be asked if they had a basement flooding or sewer backup during the recent Christmas weekend flooding, how many times in the last three years they had a backup, their downspout situation and their drain tile situation.

The postcard survey, Sanders thought, would show the areas flooded but not where the water comes from. He cited the high water table in certain areas and suggested again some ordinance to prevent basements in such an area.

Asked by the mayor what specific immediate steps he felt should be taken, Sanders proposed enacting an ordinance requiring downspouts to

Plan Theater Remodeling In Menasha

Would be Converted
To 16 Apartments,
Street Level Store

Menasha — Estimates for remodeling the long-unused Valley theater building, 157 Main street, are being secured by Christensen Land company, Appleton, a firm owned by four brothers.

First word of the proposed project, a second major step in downtown renewal if performed, came at Tuesday's common council session, when a recommendation by the police, fire traffic and safety committee not to install parking meters in the city parking lot behind the building was approved. The Christensen firm had made that request.

Robert Christensen, president of the new company, said plans are to convert the old theater building into a store and 16 small apartments. An option to purchase the building and land may be exercised in the next three weeks, he said. It is owned by Marcus Theaters, Inc., Milwaukee.

"Efficiency Apartments"
If the conversion project is undertaken, Christensen said, about all of the present building that will remain will be the side walls. Whether the Christensen company decides to do the job will depend on total costs of conversion plus sale price, measured against probable return on the firm's investment.

The 16 apartments will be "efficiency type," including living room, bedroom, bathroom and kitchenette.

The street level store will include a mezzanine. The company's officers are four Christensen brothers: Robert is president, William is vice president, Peter, Jr., is secretary-treasurer, and Charles is manager.

The four brothers are partners in the Appleton heating contractor firm of Tschank and Christensen.

Built About 1914
The old Valley theater, built about 1914, has been closed since 1954, the year Marcus Theaters, Inc., acquired it from Fox Theaters, Inc. Closed many years before 1941 when Fox took it over, it was remodeled then and operated off and on until its last closing, which was due to the nationwide decline in motion picture theater attendance.

The building, 40 by 160 feet, has continued to deteriorate with disuse. City assessor's records now show it valued at $20,000, down $10,000 from the 1958 valuation. The valuation change was made in 1958.

Fallout Not Yet Serious Problem, Despite Current Nuclear Tests

Menasha — Whether to continue atomic testing and how to control radioactive fallout are the two biggest questions before the Atomic Energy committee on national and state levels, Dr. William Lea, told the Twin Cities Safety council Wednesday evening at Germania hall.

Dr. Lea, a 1933 graduate of the University of Wisconsin and currently serving as radio-logical officer for the state office of civil defense and stance is from one-eighth to one-tenth per cent of what might be considered a serious level. But when we take into consideration how many countries are exploding atomic bombs and how frequent testing is all over the world, it may be a matter of only two or three years before it becomes a real problem."

Dr. Lea pointed out that atomic bombs today are 750 times the size of the first one dropped on Japan, now equaling about 10,000,000 tons of TNT, and that there is no limit to the explosive power that can be put into new ones.

"Plutonium and uranium are not radioactive until the atoms are split. After an explosion these particles are finer than dust and are carried by prevailing winds. We have found fallout particles of Russian bombs exploded in Siberia on farms in Wisconsin."

More Explosions

"With the British exploding bombs at Christmas island, and the French about to get into the act in the Sahara, radioactive fallout can become a serious problem in a very few years."

Dr. Lea used as a theoretical example a 10-ton missile dropped on Minneapolis.

"In that case," he said, "the population 100 miles from there would be getting killing doses of radioactive material in about 12 minutes unless the people moved immediately to shelters, where they would have to remain for two or three days."

"There would be lethal doses of radioactivity in the air in Neenah-Menasha but not in quite such concentrated doses, as it does not remain static."

Training Program

A 10-hour training program for recognizing fallout material is given by the state. All state level patrol officers have taken the course and 100 police cars have meters installed in them for accurate measurement of radioactivity. These can be used in case of traffic accidents in which carriers of radioactive materials are involved.

"Wisconsin is not unusually progressive along this line. A great many states in the nation are aware of the problem and they are doing as much or more research than we," Dr. Lea concluded.

Neenah Hikes Ambulance Fee From $2 to $5

Menasha Residents To Pay More Also, Council Decrees

Neenah — Ambulance fees for Neenah residents were increased from $2 to $5 per call and those for Menasha residents from $6 to $8 by the common council Wednesday night. In addition, Menasha charges a $1 fee making the bill for a Menasha resident to Theda Clark hospital $9.

The action was taken on recommendation of the finance committee which proposed that the other ambulance fees — county calls and to other hospitals — be kept at the present rates.

The council also approved a compromise settlement of $1,600 to the Aldridge Electric company, installers of the mercury vapor lights, in settlement of a suit for $3,051 plus 6 per cent interest against the city. The action has been pending several years.

Ald Leonard Hedberg cast the only dissenting vote against the compromise settlement.

The finance committee also recommended and received approval of paying New London $51.67 received by Neenah in an erroneous income tax distribution.

Sells House

The house at Columbian avenue and Walnut street was sold to Harold Luedke for $50 and Luedke is to remove the house from the premises. His was the high bid.

Menasha — New officers of the Sanctuary society of St. Patrick Catholic church were installed by the Rev. Michael Koch in the school dining room Tuesday evening.

Officers are Mrs. Frederick Block, president; Mrs. Lawrence Rasmussen, vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Roedel, secretary; Mrs. Lil Preisen, treasurer.

A Dutch auction followed the meeting.

Milwaukee College Man Sees Similarity in Current Musicals

Neenah — "The theater is many musical offerings as 'biggest attractions,' as both not dead," which may come straight drama, said the speaker. Today we find the real people and both spanning as a surprise to many, David MacArthur told Woman's typical "boy meets girl" plot. Tuesday club members as a doesn't work unless it is so preface to his review of current Broadway and off Broadway productions and his analysis of the status of the theater in America.

The chairman of the department of speech and drama at Milwaukee Downer college, guest speaker Tuesday afternoon at Boys' Brigade building, said the skepticism and morbidity of the critics has transferred to others "weeping for the sad state of the theater."

Many people point to the European theater, saying playwrights such as Christopher Fry and Jean Paul Sartre have what we lack while American playwrights are described as "throwing sand and dust in our eyes," MacArthur related.

It is true people in Europe see all kinds and types of drama. But Europeans treat American drama with "a great deal of admiration and respect." Our drama has made an impression on the world because it is strong, hard-driving and uninhibited, stated MacArthur. "When people stop criticizing the theater, it surely will be dead."

Little Theater

The "little theater" developed in the thirties is paying off today, he commented. The University of Wisconsin now is trying to train people to run community theaters, he said.

One aspect of the theater, developing in the last few years, is "the rather exotic service being performed by off Broadway," listed MacArthur. Avant-garde and classics are being produced here, often plays, such as O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh" and Williams' "Summer and Smoke," which did not receive acclaim when introduced are having success off Broadway.

Off Broadway

"The major emphasis of off Broadway seems to be a revival of successful authors. A good play is like a good book, a good piece of music that we keep returning to read again, to hear again."

The musical theater has developed in the last 10 to 15 years until now there are as McMahon Engineering company to prepare the plans for the addition to the city garage.

A compromise whereby the $807.73 special assessment against the Eldon Blohm property at E. Cecil street and Higgins avenue will be shared equally by Blohm, Midland Homes and the city was approved by the council.

Referred to the street and sanitation committee was a request by Ald. Paul Hansen for a street light near the east end of Quarry lane.

LWV Alerts Voters For Election Year In Numerous Ways

Neenah — Election year voter activities began as early as last summer for Neenah-Menasha League of Women Voters as it prepared to alert its own members and the community at large for the arrival of 1960, a major election year.

At the local level both Neenah and Menasha will elect mayors, aldermen and school board members. Menasha also will elect a city clerk and city assessor. Both will elect county supervisors.

At state and national levels, voters will choose a governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, state superintendent of public instruction, some state senators, assemblymen and congressmen in addition to the election of a president and vice president. Added to these may be referendum issues.

Voters Service
The voters service committee of the League, which increases its activity in an election year, includes Mrs. Bert Holverson, chairman, Mrs. Donald Craig, Mrs. W. U. Day, Mrs. Harold Young and Mrs. Joseph Turley.

The League sponsored a practical politics workshop presented by Robert Thom under the auspices of Marathon division in the fall. The program was designed to arouse interest in party politics and urge an active participation. Mrs. Holverson says "We urge every registered voter to join and work in the party of his choice so that he may effect the candidates chosen."

Voter activities continue on a year-round basis with committee members meeting every other month to perform the task. Letters of welcome are sent to all community newcomers providing them with information about the League, how to register for voting, information on congressional district, state senatorial district, assembly district, ward and names of alderman, county supervisor, state senator and assemblyman, congressman and senators.

Calendars
With the assistance of Neenah and Menasha banks, the League is adding a new service, the distribution of Wisconsin Voters calendars. The coin size calendars were prepared by the state league and published by the educational foundation of the League of Women Voters of Milwaukee. On them the dates for filing nomination papers, town meetings, common school and high school district meetings, registration dates and all elections are listed.

Twin City banks are including calendar copies with checks being mailed and league members, contributors and city officials also have received them.

Further steps in service are being planned and include a March meeting to present the so will elect a city clerk and political picture on a local level and in case of a referendum, information will be given on the issue. For the public, candidates meetings for both Neenah and Menasha will be held before election day.

Coming Out Party
Mrs. Holverson and her committee are planning a "Coming Out Party" for summer for 21-year olds at which time members of both political parties will be asked to speak. Cards will be sent to the young people inviting them to the meeting and reminding them to register. Cards also will explain how to vote an absentee ballot in event of military service.

Questionnaires consisting of pertinent questions prepared by the state league and presented to the candidate are available to any interested person.

Posters, campaigns and television and radio spot announcements designed to "get out the vote" also are planned.

Mrs. E. O. Woerner, local league president, points out the league follows through on its voters service program by issuing congressional roll calls to members showing how their congressmen have voted on bills during each session.

Local league representatives attend council and school board meetings, interview congressmen and city officials and solicit council members to find ways the league can assist in conducting surveys.

Jaycettes Host for District Meeting; Names New Officer

Neenah — Mrs. Robert Hanley was elected parliamentarian of Neenah-Menasha Jaycettes Monday evening. The local chapter will be host for the March district meeting with Mrs. James Payne as general chairman.

A mental health study group meeting is planned for Feb. 8. Mrs. Robert Yardley is chairman.

Preparing a Letter for Newcomers in the community, listing city, county and state representatives, in the upper picture from left are Mrs. Win Day, Mrs. Donald Craig and Mrs. Harold Young, members of the voters service committee of Neenah-Menasha League of Women voters. Neenah to Hire Engineers for Sewer Study discharge the water a certain distance away from the foundations and an ordinance requiring sump pumps in any home where it is determined to have a discharge of surface water into the sanitary sewer.

"These were before the council before and were not accepted. We may have a few cross connections between the sanitary and storm sewers and some buildings that formerly had cisterns may Bryan Hedberg have roof drains discharging into the sanitary sewers. These are obvious preliminary steps to do before a survey," the First Ward alderman advised.

Damage Claims Four claims for damages totaling $2,500 resulting from the Christmas weekend back-up were referred to the finance committee and insurance carrier.

Bryan told those present at the council session, which included several Sixth Ward residents and some from other parts of the city, that prior to the Christmas flooding certain relief measures had been authorized by the council. It had been planned to do these before the spring flooding.

The gates and valves are now on hand and the equipment is to be moved onto the site this week, he continued. These are not the complete answer but are stop-gap measures discussed for 30 years, but never before authorized. The problem is in reducing the flow of water or increasing the capacity of the sewer.

Bryan added the idea of a were only three persons in general survey had been discussed for the last five or six years and that the situation is a combination of many problems from various areas. The consultant will attempt to evaluate the adequacy of the present sewer system.

The mayor added the survey should be by someone who has no responsibility for the existing sewer system and by someone who has no reason to cover up anything or color his findings.

Problem Not New "The condition is not one which has just developed. It is one which former councils have winked at and did nothing. There is work to be done here," the mayor stressed. He added the survey would begin in the Reddin street area which was the heaviest hit.

Ald. Carl Coenen replied the Fourth and Seven wards were hit about as hard as the Sixth ward. He inquired about the downspouts connecting to the sanitary sewers and if the 25-year-old interceptor sewer was large enough for today's needs.

Sanders then remarked the council seemed to be missing the most elementary facts and following the same pattern as previous councils by referring to committees for study. "It's sort of a political football and never acted on. To me, it seems the simplest thing we should have done long ago. Why can't we start these things now rather than wait for six months for a firm to come in."

Gilbert Krueger, a former alderman, told of one ordin-

Krueger ance on downspouts passed during the administration of Mayor Carl Loehning and later repealed during the administration of Mayor George Sande.

Questions Outside Help Rufin Skibba, Neenah-Menasha labor council president, wondered if hiring an outside engineering firm would be double taxation since the city had its own engineer but Ald. James Dinius replied there

Bryan added the idea of a were only three persons in the public works office and they had to handle the street program, snow removal and many other jobs. They do not have the sufficient personnel or time for the survey, he explained.

Ald. Leonard Hedberg added he had brought up the sewer situation several times in the past and was glad the council as a body was beginning to get something done. "It took a group such as we had at the last council meeting to impress the council to get something done."

Coenen said the people in his ward during the last two weeks had been called "pressure groups" and "minority groups" and he resented these charges because they were a group that was requesting something they should already have — a reliable sewerage system that will take care of sewage at all times. They pay the same taxes as anyone else in the city.

'Will Get Worse' The situation will continue to get worse, he mentioned as he called attention to the .7 of an inch rainfall in 24 hours on Jan. 11. The area was at the danger point when only .6 of an inch had fallen and city crews were out most of that night trying to avoid the situation that happened Dec. 27.

Ald. Paul Hansen said the Sixth ward residents had every right to be a pressure group since they were using the word in a good sense and not the way in which the term has fallen into disrepute.

The council voted unanimously to reassure those residents that the aldermen will see that something is done about the situation.

Clark gets. They get water at rates prescribed by the state public service commission, which is 25 per cent above the local rates. I do not know if we can cut them off but have serious doubts if the law would let us.

Fire Protection "As for fire protection," the mayor continued, "Kimberly-Clark has a contract with the city. They have the assurance that if a fire is beyond the capacity of the local rural fire department, the rural officer in charge can send a call to the city fire department."

"The city fire department has the option of answering the call to the fire if there is nothing else to prevent its going. When it was renewed in the summer of 1958, I was informed that they have a similar assurance from Appleton and have paid nothing for it.

"They said if this is embarrassing to the city, we can terminate the contract if we choose. Our fire department has agreements with Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Menasha, Appleton and Green Bay that whenever they are called they will respond."

Sewage Treatment The mayor then cited the sewage disposal agreement goes back to the time the sewage disposal plant was built.

Kimberly-Clark has a contract with the sewerage commission to deliver its sewage, not to exceed a specified amount and for a particular fee. This fee has been increased to $5,000.

At the time the disposal plant was built, Kimberly-Clark built its own sewer to connect with the interceptor of the sewerage system, Mayor Bell said. That contract goes back to a time when he was not a resident of Neenah, the mayor mentioned.

Administration officials have talked about the possibilities of annexing the Kimberly-Clark property to the city since the 1959 law allows cities to take steps toward annexing, he continued. In the past the property owner had to make the first step and Kimberly-Clark had rejected annexation, the council was told.

The mayor said he did not know what the company's thoughts were about annexation.

"I do not want to see the city shut off Kimberly-Clark on the services," Coenen declared. "I would greet them with open arms if they agree to annex."

"So would every council member, I am sure," the mayor replied.

Shiocton dropped its first game of the season and since then has come on to rack up six straight victories.

Rockets Vie With New London; Jays Play Kaukauna

Twin City Squad Face Each Other at Neenah Saturday

Neenah — Neenah will make the second double weekend home stand of its season, opening with a Mid-Eastern conference game against New London Friday evening. Saturday night the Rockets play host to the Menasha Bluejays.

The Bluejays will precede Saturday's intercity classic with its seventh conference scuffle at Kaukauna Friday evening.

Bows to Two Rivers

In the inaugural double weekend at home, the Rockets were mighty successful, trimming Fond du Lac and Wisconsin Rapids in their first two games of the campaign.

The Rockets attempt to close the first half of their league slate at 3-4 and then on Saturday hope to start reversing those four first-time setbacks.

New London hasn't won a conference game but came close the last time out, losing by two baskets to Two Rivers on the Raider court. The Rockets, too, gave a good account of themselves in their most recent outing, falling 62-57 to unbeaten Kimberly on the Papermaker floor. The final score also had been reported at 64-57 but a check with the officials and official scorer revealed that Dave Minter's basket at the final horn didn't count.

New London's top scoring threat is 6-2 center Tom Laux, one of the few seniors on the squad. He ranks among the top 12 in the conference. Dick Emerich also has scored well. Dan Laux, Dave Emerich and Don Hanold complete the starting lineup.

Neenah's attack got a boost with the 20-point output by Tom Smith against Kimberly. He had only 39 in the first five games. Juniors Jim Sauby and Paul Felton continue to come along well. Sauby has hit eight or more points in each of the last five games and Felton has nine or better in seven of the Rockets' 10 starts.

Neenah's overall record is 6-4. It was unbeaten in four non-conference starts. Menasha's offense, which has produced 50 or more points in every game and 60-plus in six, gets the next crack at the sturdy Kaukauna defense. Four of the Ghosts' league foes didn't make 50 points.

TWIN CITY Sports

Thursday, Jan. 21, 1960 Page D5

Play Overtime

Both clubs are well-stocked with veterans from the squads which played a thrilling 52-50 overtime at Kaukauna last February. Kaukauna won all three meetings, including the consolation championship of the Menasha regional tournament.

The Jays are expected to gear their defense to stop LeRoy Weyenberg, the conference's top scorer, but he has been getting good assistance from Jim Steger, Bill Borchart and Myron Zachowski.

Bill Ritchie, Jim Stenson and Bill Prange combined for 51 points after Clintonville bottled up high-scoring Dave Ristau with five points last week. The Menasha center's previous low was 13 against Manitowoc.

Although he didn't see action, Russ Wendt, senior guard, was in uniform and participated in the warmup drills. Wendt, a regular last year, suffered a knee injury in the preseason football drills and although the ailment still hampers his running, he is expected to see spot duty soon.

Schmidt Jars 636 Total in 'Commercial'

Neenah — Howard Schmidt powered a 636 series to capture honors in the Commercial Bowling league Wednesday night at Muench's Recreation alleys.

Don Nielsen and Don Christensen each came up with 358 totals. Badger Products (324-181) owns a half game edge over Porath's in the 10-team circuit.

Jerry Erb posted a 540 series, including a 191 single, to pace the Neenah Women's City league Wednesday night at Muench's.

Percy Resch collected 519 and Delores Bylewski had 508. The lead belongs to Larson-Schreiter, which had a 5-game margin over two runner-up clubs with a 36-15.

FWCC Quintet Deals Brussels First Loss

Menasha — The list of undefeated state high school basketball teams dropped by one Tuesday night when De Pere Penning surprised Brussels 75-59 at Brussels. It was Brussels' first loss after nine wins. "Corky" Clumpner had 18 points for the Squires. Rolland Rottler and Joe Schmitt each hit 18.

St. Mary Eyes 10th Menasha Loop Win

Menasha — Unbeaten St. Mary (9-0) meets Trinity (5-5) at 8:30 p.m. tonight at the Butte des Morts gym in the Menasha Church - Industrial basketball league.

The opener at 7:30 will match Banta No. 1 (6-4) against St. Patrick (7-3).

Jentz Uncorks Peak Total in Menasha Play

Walbrun Topples High 613 Count In Business Loop

Menasha — Pete Jentz registered a 631 series and Norm Beyer rolled a 231 game in the Twin City Men's Industrial Bowling league Tuesday night at the Mid-Town alleys.

Beyer closed with a 562 total while other honor scores included "Chuck" Green 226, Irv Hall 598, Dave Buksyk 593, George Fucik 576, Dom Wilay 575, Mike Mikich 560, Merle Wichman 550 and "Nubbs" Goffard 557.

Marathon - Washington Street Plant swept team honors with scratch totals of 961-2,715. Marathon's Neenah Plant holds first place with 264 Petersen points, topping Washington Street by eight points.

Dick Walbrun bashed a 613 set and John Friesen had a 225 game in the Business Men's circuit Wednesday night at Mid-Town.

Irv Peterson slammed 566, Pat Patterson 557, Bob Hanson 554 and Friesen 550.

Al La Count fired a 245 game and Harold Walsh had a 598 trio in the Uptown Commercial wheel Wednesday night at Mid-Town.

LaCount, the league secretary, finished with a 590 trio while other big scores included Lee Holcomb 227-581, Marsh Beyer 577, Marv Patri and Merlin Cosgrove 576, Gene Hanson 564, Bob Kuehl 568, Lyle Marquardt 563 and Stan Miller 553.

Wanserski Grocery boasts a 2-game advantage with its 38-21 record.

Clippers Notch 5th Straight Twin City Win

Neenah — St. Margaret Mary chalked up its fifth straight Twin City Grade school league win by turning back Kimberly Junior High school 40-36 Wednesday night.

The Clippers led 5-4 at the quarter, 16-12 at halftime and 32-22 at the conclusion of three frames.

Jim Moder scored 22 points on 11 baskets for the winners. George Wiesner had 11 points. Buchberger tallied 15 for the Kimberly Juniors. St. Margaret Mary had an 18-15 field goal edge and was outshot 6-4 from the free throw line.

Kimberly won the "B" game 27-12. St. Margaret Mary meets Holy Name of Kimberly tonight and will entertain St. Luke of Two Rivers in a non-league contest Sunday afternoon.

Zephyrs Risk Perfect Mark Against Little Chute Quint

Attempt to Run Win String To 14 in League Encounter

Menasha — St. Mary's unbeaten record will come in for another thorough testing Friday night when traditional rival Little Chute St. John invades the Menasha High gym for a Fox Valley Catholic conference encounter.

The Zephyrs' current slate reads 13 straight victories. It is one of 17 unbeaten high school teams in the state and is second only to Racine St. Catherine in the total number of wins.

St. Mary has a 4-0 Catholic conference record; St. John 1-3. The Zephyrs are unbeaten in their last 17 league starts covering a 3-year period. With Friday's test, both clubs join the other four members at the half way mark in their league schedules.

Zephyr Nemesis

Traditionally, St. John has been a Zephyr nemesis. While St. Mary has won the majority of the games in recent years, the Menashans haven't been without their uneasy moments.

Last year, St. Mary copped 62-58 and 72-62 in league play and then had an easier time, 75-47, in the opening game of the regional tournament.

However, three seasons ago the Dutchmen here knocked the Menashans out of the title picture. That setback and another to St. Norbert gave them an 8-2 record. The Zephyrs beat the Squires but the latter finished with 9-1 for sole possession of conference honors.

Idle Since Jan. 10

St. John, except for Wednesday's game at the state reformatory, has been idle since bowing to Marinette Catholic on Jan. 10. The Dutchmen have two of the conference's top ranking scorers in Harland Hietpas and Ed Hammen, who hold fourth and fifth. St. Mary, with its fine balanced attack, doesn't have anyone in the first 10.

The clubs have played a number of common foes. Both teams downed Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, Premontre and Marshfield Columbus. The Dutchmen bowed to Penning, Wayland, Springs and Marinette Catholic twice while the Zephyrs whipped these four foes, Marinette twice.

Down Fond du Lac

Recently, the Zephyr performances have coincided with the calibre of opposition they were playing. They have been sharp against the good teams and so-so against clubs with mediocre records. They had to fight all the way to emerge with a 40-34 win over Fond du Lac Springs Saturday in their last outing.

Considering the fact that the Menashans have been before the holiday tournament without three varsity performers most of the year, their record is amazing. Norm Brown, a regular last year, hasn't played at all; Jim Rueckl, another starter, has been idle since November and 6-5 reserve center Mike Kiefer has been out of action since before the holiday tournament.

Macs Tumble Plymouth in 2nd Half Tilt

Romp 120-67 for Second Victory; Smith Tallies 27

Plymouth — The Menasha Macs routed Plymouth 120-67 here Wednesday night for their second victory of the season in the Eastern Wisconsin Amateur basketball league.

The first round titlists moved to a 25-10 first period lead and were on the long end of a 54-25 halftime count.

They had a red-hot 35-point third period and while at the same time held the losers to 19 for an 89-44 edge.

Scoring honors for the Macs went to Jerry Smith, who hit 27 points on 11 baskets and five free throws. Dick Rohe had 24 markers. "Skip" Schuerer 20, Joe Kosjorek 19 and Pete Burghardt 18.

The Macs bid for their third league win Saturday night at Hilbert. At 2 p.m. Sunday they'll entertain St. John Holy Name at the Butte des Morts gym in the first game of a series. Mac players are selling tickets for the contest which matches Menasha's two top amateur clubs.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Distinguish between ENORMITY (which is used of viciousness that is unnatural) and ENORMOUSNESS (which is used of that which is vast). Thus: "The average mind cannot grasp the enormity of criminal activity," and, "The enormity of unused land in Africa exceeds that of any other continent."

Often Mispronounced: Obesity. Pronounce the "e" as in "bee," preferred.

Synonyms: Cause (verb), create, originate, produce, induce, develop, establish.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Robbery Hoax Nets Nothing but Trouble

St. Louis — UP — Spencer Ham's reward for a robbery hoax was a bump on the head and two police charges.

Ham, a 20-year-old delivery boy, told police this tale: He arranged for another man to rob him while he was taking grocery store receipts to a bank. The other man hit him over the head and took $398, the idea being to split with Ham later.

The man has not been seen since.

Ham was charged with stealing and filing a false report.

Hanging Basket for Vines Made of Straws and String

BY CAPPY DICK

Here is an easy way to make a hanging basket for Mother or Grandmother to use as a container for an ivy plant. All you need are some colored plastic straws and some very stout cord.

Cut eight pieces of string, each three feet long. Then cut some colored plastic soda straws into 1-inch pieces. If the basket is to be small, eight straws will be enough to cut. If the ivy pot is large, a bigger basket will be necessary and you'll have to cut up more straws.

Hold the eight strings together in an even bunch and tie them in a single knot at one end (Figure 1), leaving about an inch to hang as a tassel at the bottom of the basket. Next, string one straw on each cord, also as in Figure 1.

Now tie each two strings together in a single knot (see Figures 2 and 3) at the top of the straws. This will form a base on which the ivy pot will rest. If the pot is very large, you will want these first eight straws to be longer than one inch.

String another 1-inch straw on each string, then take two on a nail or hook as in Figure 4. If you have too much string at the top of the straws, these left, cut some off before tying the two strings must not be the same two you tied together the first time. The idea is to form a diamond design as in Figure 3.

Continue in this manner until you have woven a basket big enough to hold the ivy pot securely. Tie the strings in a knot to form a long handle by which the basket can be hung on a nail or hook as in Figure 4. If you have too much string at the top of the straws, these left, cut some off before tying the two strings must not be the same two you tied together the first time.

Much That's Incorrect Written About South

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
New York — In a presidential campaign, every issue counts. The Negro question will be of importance because so many Negroes live in telling states, such as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California. On the other hand, what has for many years been called the Negro problem is not as pressing in 1960 as it has been during the last two decades.

In the south, the Negro question is one of social integration; in the north it is fast becoming a matter of political control. In New York City, the Negroes and the Puerto Ricans can hold the political balance of power and can exert an enormous economic pressure upon the community. In recent years, the Negro vote was well organized and was generally Democratic; that is not likely to be so in 1960. The northern Negro will be influential in both political parties.

"The case of the south," by William D. Workman, Jr., puts the problem better than I have seen it anywhere else. He says:

Four Forces
"The south is being scourged by four pestilential forces which impose an almost intolerable burden upon Americans who cherish state sovereignty, constitutional government and racial integrity. On the one hand are these three: the supreme court of the United States, which has wrought havoc in its injudicious effort to play at sociology; the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has recklessly undertaken to achieve race-mixing by pressure; and the northern politicians and propagandists who pervert small truths into big lies as they purvey vilification and ignorance on a grand scale. On the other hand is the Ku Klux Klan with its unlovely cohorts who substitute muscle and meanness for the intellect which by rights must be the defense of the south.

"The man in the middle is the one whose voice needs to be heard, for too long has his quiet but determined resistance to tyranny from either side been unheralded and unexplained.

One who lives in the north and who has only seen the south on casual visits discusses this problem from the standpoint of whatever his bias may be.

Much Incorrect
So much has been written about the south and the Negro that it is obviously incorrect that it becomes increasingly difficult for one who is not adjusted to a southern environment to form an accurate judgment from the data.

Negroes of means are moving into better buildings and there is a degree of intermarriage. In the south, intermarriage raises a very serious problem; in the north, particularly among the richer Negroes, it is not so unusual. Social equality never can exist without intermarriage and therefore while the problems of political and economic equality can be solved more readily than heretofore, social equality, not only of Negro and white, but of Jew and Christian or Protestant and Catholic, involves numerous inherited obstacles.

Workman quotes Prof. E. Franklin Frazier of Howard University as follows:

"Even in the United States, where the mixing of whites and Negroes slowed down after emancipation, the urbanization of the Negro and his rise in economic and social status are accelerating racial mixture. The absorption of the Negro will scarcely change the physical character of the population but the cultural influence of the Negro, especially in music, has left its imprint on the new American culture that is evolving."

Intermarriage always involves serious considerations. When no social pressures or rigid laws exist against intermarriage of one people with another, such marriages are bound to take place. This has been true all over the world for Chinese, Japanese, and Hin-dues marry Caucasians, as whites are called among them. Hawaii is producing an entirely new race out of such a mixture, in which must also be included the remains of the native Kanakas.

This is too broad a subject to consider here now. William D. Workman, Jr., a southern newspaperman, discusses it with more objectivity than one would expect in "The Case For The South," an able study. (Copyright, 1960)
